FLEET IS CHEERED BY GREAT THRONGS

Crews Swarm Ashore and Fraternize With British Seamen and Soldiers

VOYAGE WAS UNEVENTFUL

American Boys Are Characterized as the Handsomest Bunch Ever Seen Together in the Port of Malta.

Malta, Nov. 8.—The Wyoming, flagship of the United States Atlantic battleship fleet under command of Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, steamed into port today and was heartily cheered by great throngs of spectators gathered on the bastions. The Wyoming is the largest and most powerful warship yet seen at Malta. She will remain here until Tuesday next, when she will proceed for Naples.

A large number of the crew swarmed ashore shortly after the arrival of the battleship and were met by groups of British seamen and soldiers the men fraternizing cordially and making the streets lively. The Americans expressed themselves as feeling quite at home. They at once began to enjoy the visit because the American government had particularly requested that the authorities at the different points which the fleet is visiting dispense with any formal entertainment, the cruise being in no wise ceremonial or official, but educational.

The men will be allowed as much liberty as possible, so they may utilize their opportunities to the best advantage. The entertainments arranged here are only on a small scale.

The American Blue Jackets are characterized as the smartest-looking set that ever came to Malta.

Voyage Uneventful.

Commander Todd said the voyage was uneventful. Since leaving Hampton Roads the flet had been favored with beautiful weather. The colliers and hospital ships remained with the battleships, which coaled several times.

Off Gibraltar the battleships separated, proceeding for various designated ports, according to the programme, so as to arrive at their respective destinations this morning.

Springing at attention from their work, the blue jackets saluted the flag as it was lowered at the sunset gun tonight while the band played "The Star Spangled Banner," and the British anthem. During the ceremony the Wyoming was surrounded by boat loads of interested sightseers.

Rear Admiral Badger and the other superior officers have been made honorary members of the Union Club and the casino. Tomorrow evening the commander-in-chief and other officers and the American consul will lunch with the Governor of Malta, Sir Henry MacLeod Leslie Rundle, at the palace. There will be a massed band concert Monday which will be attended by Governor Rundle, all the British officers and the American officers.

Others Arrive.

Naples, Nov. 8.—The American battleships Florida and Arkansas arrived here today and anchored after exchanging salutes with the forts.

Admiral Cattolica, ex-minister of marine, who had been selected by Minister of Marine Milto to welcome the American battleships to this port, visited the captains of the Florida and Arkansas this afternoon.

The mayor of Naples and many prominent citizens also boarded the warships and extended a hearty greeting.

The Italian flagship Emanuele Filiberto arrived here today to greet the American warships and the commanders exchanged visits this afternoon. Many American sailors were given shore leave.

DIED OF BLOOD POISONING.

Infected Carbuncle Cause of Death of Tarboro Lady.

Tarboro, N. C., Nov. 8.—Mrs. Edward Stone died here suddenly today of blood poison as the result of the infection of a carbuncle on the back of her neck. She was aged 35 years. Surviving are her husband, two small children; her mother, Mrs. Sarah Redmond, and a number of brothers and sisters.

Eighteen thousand people attended the first Edgecombe fair during the three days, nearly 12,000 being here Thursday. The best horses in the State were in the races, the best record made being 2:16 flat.

Sensational Turn In Land Graft Case

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 8.—Sensational charges alleging unfairness on the part of representatives of the United States Department of Justice in preparing a case against the Florida Fruit Lands Company, pending before the Federal grand jury, were contained in a petition filed in the Federal district court here today by Herbert S. Hadley, former Governor of Missouri, attorney and presenting agent of the Florida Lands Company.

The petition charged specially that Sylvester R. Bush, an assistant attorney general of the United States had questioned prospective witnesses in the case and upon finding them favorable to the land company had dismissed them.

The case being investigated by the government resulted from the sale of 180,000 acres of land in the Everglades to 12,000 persons in various parts of the United States.

EXPECT VERDICT SOME TIME TODAY

Counsel for Defense in Ritual Murder Case Declared Religion on Trial.

BEING MADE A SCAPE GOAT

Defendant May be Released—Trial Judge Stated That No Religion Nor Books Were on Trial But a Fanatic.

Kiev, Russia, Nov. 8.—A verdict is expected tomorrow in the trial of Mendel Beiliss for the alleged murder of the Christian boy Andrew Yushinsky.

M. Gruenberg, a defense attorney, argued today that Beiliss was being made a scapegoat for mistakes of officials who conducted the preliminary investigation. The lawyer did not mince words in referring to the Vera Tcheberak band of criminals. He said "all roads of evidence led to Vera Tcheberak."

In his address M. Gruzenberg for the defense said that all Jews had felt the blow dealt at their co-religionist. Since the end of the seventh century there had been no such trial as that of Beiliss. It was the Jewish religion that was on trial.

The president of the court interposed, saying, "neither the Jewish religion nor books are on trial. It is a question of fanatical acts."

In conclusion counsel for the defense said he was convinced of the absolute innocence of Beiliss and did not admit the possibility of a verdict of guilty.

Look for Pindell's Nomination Soon

Washington, Nov. 8.—The Russian government has notified the United States that Henry M. Pindell, of Peoria, Ill., will be persona grata to the St. Petersburg court. Mr. Pindell's nomination is expected to be sent to the Senate soon.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—A misunderstanding threatened to develop today between James Hamilton Lewis, United States Senator for Illinois, and Henry M. Pindell, of Peoria, Ill., in connection with the publication of a letter said to have been from Senator Lewis offering Mr. Pindell the post of Ambassador to Russia, with the proviso that he hold the portfolio only one year.

Mr. Pindell declared at his Peoria office that the published letter never had been received by him. Senator Lewis, while not denying he had written the letter to Pindell, said: "If Mr. Pindell says he did not receive the letter he must be right.

"It was my understanding, when I wrote to Mr. Pindell, that he should take the Russian post to fill the unexpired term of Curtis Guild, who had resigned. I think that would have been about a year."

The letter published this morning was absolutely new to me," declared Mr. Pindell today. "The only understanding I had with President Wilson concerning this appointment was that I might resign in a year if I found it desirable to do so for business or personal reasons."

Mr. Pindell is editor of the Peoria Journal and is reputed to be a millionaire.

EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES.

In Alaska Causes Government to Send Three Doctors There.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Because of an epidemic of measles on Kodiak Islands, Alaska, Secretary of the Interior Lane today ordered three government physicians to the stricken districts. Assistant Surgeon Krulish, of the Public Health Service, who is on special detail with the United States Bureau of Education and now at Juneau, Alaska, and Drs. H. O. Schaleben and O. B. Orr, of the Interior Department, will proceed to the islands immediately.

Secretary Lane took this action this afternoon after he had received a telegram from Governor Strong, of Alaska, stating that many inhabitants of the islands were destitute and that the situation was serious. There are 110 cases of measles at Afognak Village, three deaths have been reported at Lodiak and ten deaths at Kagnak.

Secretary Lane required of Secretary McAdoo the co-operation of the revenue cutter service in checking the epidemic. The cutter Tahoma at Seattle late today was ordered to sail for Kodiak Island.

AGAINST TICKET SCANDALS.

New York City Has New Ordinance to Prevent Scalping.

New York, June 8.—A city ordinance designed to prevent ticket scandals at future world series baseball games here will be introduced in the board of aldermen at the instance of the district attorney's office as a result of an investigation by the county authorities of the success of speculators in obtaining tickets to the Giants-Athletics games at the Polo Grounds last month.

A report submitted tonight by District Attorney Whitman, which was prepared by his assistant assigned to the inquiry, shows that while few box seats reached the hands of speculators, nearly 1,200 $3 seats were disposed of through hotel ticket agencies or by individuals. It was announced that several persons are to be arrested.

ELIMINATION OF HUERTA TO BE SOON

The Administration Officials Stated it Would Be One Way or Another

AVERT EXTREME MEASURES

Government May Throw Moral Support to the Constitutionalists in the North by Lifting Embargo on Arms—Fighting.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Notwithstanding intimations that Provisional President Huerta of Mexico would refuse to resign, administration officials stated tonight that his elimination would be accomplished "in one way or another." They declared that every opportunity would be given him to retire peacefully and that drastic steps would be avoided if possible.

The chief development of the day was a call sent by President Wilson for members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Republicans, as well as Democrats. He had Senators Stone and Wilson with him for an hour, and expects to discuss the subject individually with other members within the next two or three days.

He is in constant communication with Senator Bacon, chairman of the committee, who early in the day had a long conference with Secretary Bryan.

The Georgia Senator said tonight that while he was not at liberty to discuss his talk with Mr. Bryan in detail he could state that here had been no change in the fixed purpose of the United States to have Huerta eliminated from the situation and that it would be done, though every effort would be made to avert extreme measures.

In the view of many officials who anticipate a flat rejection by Huerta of the American demands only two courses are open to the United States—either to compose the situation directly, or to throw its moral support with the constitutionalists in their fight to obtain possession of the government in Mexico City.

May Lift Embargo.

That there is a strong disposition to adopt the latter course was evident in many quarters today. Officials in the confidence of President Wilson said that while there was absolutely no alliance between the Washington government and the constitutionalists the sympathies of this government would be inclined toward the constitutionalist movement. The discussion they said, had not progressed to the point where recognition of the belligerency of the constitutionalists was being considered.

Lifting the embargo on arms is the method by which many Senators believe the situation can best be met.

It is believed that before the Washington government takes any step, an understanding through informal and unofficial channels may be reached as to the exact purposes of the constitutionalists. To this end it is reported that agents of the United States government are gathering information along the border of the strength of the constitutionalists and the programme which they have mapped out.

That no final word had come from Huerta as to the American demands, was admitted today by State Department officials. The next step, it is believed, will not be decided until Huerta's reply actually is received. In the meantime, the President expects to keep members of Congress closely informed. He did not take his customary Saturday afternoon automobile ride, but remained at the White House absorbed in the dispatches from Mexico.

Conference Today.

The President expects to forego his usual Sunday custom of banishing official business for the day and will see some of the members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The President is said to be impressing upon all those who discuss the subject with him, that it is the duty of the United States to see to it that the arbitrary assumption of power by Huerta should not be permitted to ripen into a precedent in Latin-America.

Absolutely no official comment was forthcoming tonight upon dispatches from Mexico City, announcing that Huerta would be aided by English financial interests in meeting the immediate expenses.

Information on the part of the English financial interests are said to have played in supporting the Huerta government has been in possession of the United States government for some time and persons in the confidence of President Wilson declared he had this phase of the situation in mind when he made his Mobile speech attacking the influence of material interest of foreign Nations in the political affairs of Central and South American republics.

The Navy Department today ordered the supply ship Culgoa, now at Norfolk to steam to New York, to take aboard meats and other provisions for the fleet at Vera Cruz and Tampico. It was explained that this action was in line with the Navy Department policy to make the American squadron as far as possible, independent of supplies from shore, and to sustain this explanation, it was pointed out that the fleet now in Mediterranean waters was accompanied by the supply ship Celtic for the same purpose.

It appears that the second division of the fleet had allowed its store of provisions to run very low, expecting to leave Mexican waters earlier in the week to go home upon the arrival of the third division. The order from Secretary Daniels detaining the second division indefinitely in Mexican waters consequently has made it necessary

HARVARD BEATS PRINCETON

On a Field Several Inches Deep in Mud Visitors Won Three to Nothing—Other Games Played Throughout Country.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 8.—Harvard shattered an ancient football tradition here today by defeating Princeton on her own ground. The score was 3 to 0. Credit for the victory goes in great part to Charles Brickley, whose solitary goal from the field solved a problem for Harvard which the mud and rain would otherwise have baffled.

Played on a field inches deep in mud, the finer points of football were absolutely lost, and the teams wallowed and slid about the gridiron waiting for an error to give them an opportunity to score. Harvard's chance came in the second period when during a punting duel Law, who did the kicking for the Tigers, had one of his low drives blocked by Gilman, the Crimson right tackle. The ball, rolling toward the Princeton goal, was followed by a slipping, scrambling mass of players. When the spheroid was finally corralled on Princeton's 12-yard line it was a pair of mud-covered Crimson arms that held it. Harvard tried two line plunges.

The Orange and Black forwards held firm and it was evident that if the Crimson was to score it must be by Brickley's educated toe.

Despite the short distance to the goal bar, the conditions were such that a failure would have been entirely excusable. But Brickley, stepping back to the 20-yard line carefully wiped the mud from his famous propelling boot and sent the ball sailing across the Princeton goal bar for the score that sent Harvard home with their first victory in Jungletown in a generation.

Although Brickley's winning goal will go down in football history as a puny affair of just about 20 yards, the fact that it was the only successful one of several tried by Brickley and Captain Baker, of Princeton, demonstrates the handicap under which the feat was accomplished.

Worse conditions underfoot and overhead for a football game would be hard to imagine.

Such honor as could accrue under the heavy handicap went in great part to the Harvard eleven, because they quickly adapted their playing system to the gridiron and after the opening period showed the better offensive and defensive play.

Although Law out-distanced Hardwick with his kicks, he also overreached his ends, who could not cover ground on the slippery field fast enough to prevent safe catches by the Harvard backfield. Hardwick's punts, although short, were high and ball. The Crimson grew stronger as the game drew to a close. In all Princeton scored seven first downs to Harvard's five. This advantage was offset to some extent by the penalties imposed for off-side play.

Each team tried the forward pass three times, Princeton completing two of the trio, while Harvard made good balance. Baker attempted five field goals, while Brickley scored one of his three tries.

Harvard, as soon as it had scored three points, proceeded to play conservatively, covering the Princeton attack either through the line, around the ends or by forward passes.

From a standpoint of team play Harvard outshone Princeton. When the whistle blew enthusiastic Harvard rooters carried several of the players from the field, while others formed a parade and marched up to the Princeton campus cheering and singing.

CAUCUS IS CALLED FOR WEDNESDAY

Democratic Senators Hold Conference Over Pending Currency Legislation

COMMITTEE IN DEADLOCK

President Wilson Made No Comment Upon the Call, But It is Understood That He Agrees With the Senators.

Washington, Nov. 8.—With the Senate Banking and Currency committee deadlocked in its consideration of the administration currency bill, a call was issued tonight for a conference of Senate Democrats next Wednesday to discuss the measure.

The call was issued by Senator Swanson, of Virginia, who circulated the petition for the call, on the authority from Senator Kern, who is out of the city. Senator Swanson decided upon this course after an adjournment of the committee for the day and after he had talked with President Wilson.

All day long the committee wrangled without result over the question of fixing the number of regional banks to administer the new currency system. Half a dozen votes were taken on various propositions fixing the number at from 4 to 8. Each vote disclosed a tie, Senator Hitchcock voting with the five Republicans against the six remaining Democrats. In vain the administration Senators declared that the President was determined to have at least eight regional banks.

When the committee had adjourned Democratic members went into session. The four administration supporter argued with Senators Hitchcock, Reed and O'Gorman, although the latter two had swung into line with the administration on several propositions. An attempt was made to secure a compromise by which the administration supporters would yield on other points in order to secure eight regional banks. But the administration Senators were not willing to yield enough and the effort failed.

Call for Conference.

At this point Senator Swanson and his conference call came into the situation. The petition for the call had been circulated and had been signed by 23 Democratic Senators. Just as soon as the conference broke up, Senator Swanson left the capitol and hurried to the White House. He talked briefly with the President and then sought Chairman Owen and Senators Pomerene, Hollis and Shafroth, the administration committeemen. They signed the petition and Senator Swanson immediately issued the call. The petition, which was addressed to Senator Kern, chairman of the Democratic conference, read:

"The undersigned, believing it important that a conference of Democratic Senators should be held, so that they may advise together with respect to banking and currency legislation, request you to call such conference at the earliest date within which you may be able to give reasonable notice to absent Senators."

The petition was signed by Senators Martin, Swanson, Smith, of Maryland; Ashurst, Chamberlain, Chilton, Fletcher, Lewis, Martine, Myers, Overman, Pittman, Shepherd, Shields, Simmons, Smith, of Arizona; Stone, Thomas, Thompson, Tillman, Vardaman, Walsh, Williams, Owen, Pomerene, Hollis and Shafroth.

No comment was made at the White House on the developments in the situation, but Senator Swanson gave out the following statement:

"Believing there already has been too much delay in the enactment of currency legislation, and perceiving that there seems to be irreconcilable differences between Democratic members of the Banking and Currency committee of the Senate, and thinking it proper and best way to adjust these differences was a conference of the Democratic members of the Senate, I circulated a petition for such a conference and 27 Senators have signed the call. Nearly all the Democratic Senators in Washington have signed their desire for a conference. I believe most of those absent concur in this. The country has given the Democratic party power under promise to enact reform legislation, including in which is banking and currency; it should not and cannot shirk its responsibility.

Democrats Responsible.

"Being responsible for the character of the legislation, the time has arrived for the Democratic Senators to hold a conference and consider their united obligations and duties to the country. We owe it to the country and our party not to permit this opportunity to pass to obtain much needed banking and currency reform. The conference is called for this purpose and to hasten and facilitate such legislation. It is not intended to reflect upon any one, and is called with the earnest hope and expectation that it will result in giving to the country soon a banking and currency bill, beneficial to all our varied interests, and for which the Democratic party will unitedly stand and point to in the future as an act of proud achievement."

Republican members of the committee tonight expressed the intention of writing a minority currency bill based on a publicly owned, publicly controlled system of regional banks, of which there should be no more than four. In many respects the bill would follow the Glass administration bill. The Republicans declare they will take the fight on the bill to the floor of the Senate.

Affirmative action in the committee today consisted of the completion of the reserve section of the bill as it applies to country banks. The House bill provided that country banks must keep a 12 per cent reserve; 5 per cent in the regional bank and 7 per cent in their own vaults. An amendment was adopted almost unanimously by which the country banks keep the 7 per cent in their own or regional banks at their option.

The administration Democrats in the committee are at work on a report which probably will be laid before the conference Wednesday.

LAKE STEAMERS DAMAGED BY GALE

One Life Lost and Several Vessels Pounded to Pieces On the Rocks.

TUGS GO TO THEIR RESCUE

Fear is Expressed for Many Craft Known to be Between Ports on Fresh Water Seas—Fire Adds to Horror.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—The gale which swept the Great Lakes today resulted in the grounding of at least two vessels near here and the drowning of Frank C. Foster, first mate on the whaleback steamer Samuel Mather.

Reports reached here tonight that an unidentified steamer was pounding to pieces on the rocks off Point Pelee in Lake Erie. Three tugs left Amherstburg, to search for the unfortunate vessel. Another report states that steamer Mary Elphicke is ashore at Bar Point in Lake Erie.

When the Samuel Mather passed Detroit tonight Foster reached out with a net to take the mail from a tug. He lost his hold of the rail and fell overboard.

Fire Breaks Out.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 8. — The steamer Louisiana went on the rocks near Port Washington in Lake Michigan early today and began pounding to pieces, according to word the owners received here late today.

While the crew of 12 were working to free her fire broke out and the crew took to the boats, landing safely.

A Training School For Social Purity

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8.—A training school in which the principles of purity may be taught was advocated at the International Purity Congress today.

A plan for the school, including its scope, location and financing, is being considered by a committee.

Dr. Keshava Deva Shashtri, of Benares, India, said there has been formed 8,000 organizations in his native country with a membership of more than 500,000, whose purpose is to secure the equality of the sexes and the single standard of morality.

William A. McKeever, of Lawrence, Kas., head of the child welfare department of the University of Kansas, said: "Social purity is becoming more and more a problem of the social control of the young. It is not only wrong to segregate adolescent boys and girls, but it is obligatory to provide for them a free intermingling under wise and inspired leadership. All healthy boys and girls of the age of 16 are naturally in love with the opposite sex; and they ought to be."

ED JUSTICE LANDS.

Will be Special Counsel for Department Justice of Justice—Glenn.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—E. J. Justice, of Greensboro, has been offered an appointment as special counsel for the Department of Justice and if he accepts, which is practically certain, he will report in Washington Tuesday morning and be assigned to one of the biggest government cases now before the Department of Justice. The Greensboro man is slated to take charge of the government case at San Francisco, involving a suit to recover from the railroads lands valued at $2,000,000. The position offered Justice pays $7,5000 a year and all expenses.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Osborne and Josephus Daniels were instrumental in securing the place for Justice. Commissioner Osborne, it is believed, really landed the place, though the commissioner himself would not talk about the matter.

Former Governor Robert B. Glenn was here today. He called on Secretary Tumulty, Commissioner Osborne, Senator Simmons and Secretary Daniels.

Later the Governor secured copies of "an act to regulate commerce" and "supplemental acts to regulate commerce," and departed for Pennsylvania where he will lecture tomorrow. Governor Glenn reiterated that he had not decided whether he would run for the United States Senate against Senator Overman. He did admit, however, that he now knows that his friends have interested themselves in his behalf with the President in an effort to secure a Federal appointment for him.

HARRY THAW GOES BACK TO NEW YORK

Governor Felkner, of New Hampshire, Honors Requisition.

NOW IN FEDERAL COURTS

Thaw Will Remain in Concord Until Pending Writ of Habeas Corpus is Acted Upon by the Higher Courts.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 8.—Governor Felker today honored the requisition of the State of New York, for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw. The case is now transferred automatically to the Federal courts where a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Thaw is pending.

The Governor based his decision on the indictment returned against Thaw in New York county, which charged him with conspiracy to escape from the asylum at Matteawan, N. Y.

Thaw's attorneys announced that they would immediately file an amendment to their petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The original petition was based on the allegation that Thaw was indicted for conspiracy by the Dutchess county grand jury and it was sus[illegible]ding the Governor's decision upon the matter of extradition.

Because the extradition has now been granted on the strength of the New York county indictment, it will be necessary to amend the petition accordingly.

Thaw will remain here in the custody of United States Marshal Nute and Sheriff Drew pending the Federal proceedings.

Fugitive From Justice.

In granting the extradition Governor Felker said in part:

"By the petition of Governor Glynn and the accompanying papers it appears that the grand jury in quest of the county of New York, has duly returned an indictment against Mr. Thaw. That is sufficient to warrant the arrest, arraignment and trial of the respondent if he may be found within the State wherein the indictment is pending. It is furthermore sufficient to establish that Mr. Thaw is—if found in any State or country, while such indictment is pending—a fugitive from justice.

"The provisions of the Federal constitution and the acts of Congress enacted to give force and effect thereto as construed by the court of last resort, limit me to the consideration of the question: (1) whether the person demanded has been substantially charged with a crime, and (2), whether he is a fugitive from justice. Such was the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the most recent case wherein a sister State demanded of New Hampshire the interState rendition of a person within her border—Mancy vs. Clough, 196 U. S. 372, decided in 1903—in that case it was decided by a unanimous court that the proceedings in matters of this kind before the Governor are summary in their nature. * * * The person demanded has no constitutional right to be heard before the Governor on either question and the statute provides for none.

"I have, nevertheless, owing to the urgency of the demands of his counsel—men in whose integrity I have confidence and for whose opinions I entertain deep respect—given Mr. Thaw the fullest possible opportunity for the expression of their views. With profound respect therefore, I am unable to view my duty in the premises as including an investigation of Mr. Thaw's mental condition or of the counsel for the State of New York, or of the probable guilt or innocence of the accused."

Evelyn May Join Harry.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who is in this city, seemed genuinely upset when told that Governor Felker had granted the extradition application in the case of her husband, Harry K. Thaw.

"I am deeply grieved," she said. "If Jerome would oonly stop persecuting Harry and allow his family to take care of him, he would be all right."

Mrs. Thaw would not deny there was a possibility of her joining her husband if he won his fight for liberty.

Miner and Three Guards Ambushed

Laveta, Colo., Nov. 8.—One miner and three guards from the Oak view Mine near here, were killed late today when they were ambushed while returning to the mine.

The miner had come to Laveta this afternoon to visit a dentist. When he started to return to the mine he was surrounded by strikers, but managed to send a telephone appeal for aid. Three guards came to Laveta, rescued the miner and started for the mine in an automobile. The party was attacked and in the exchange of shots the occupants of the automobile were killed.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 8.—Adjutant Generalu Chase was ordered today by Governor Ammons to round up and imprison under martial guard the men who early today ambushed and killed a non-union miner in the Aguilar district and those who late today ambushed and killed three mine guards and a non-union miner near Laveta.

The Governor declared that if he could find a way to try men under martial law, he would order General Chase to proceed with their trial.

today when Auburn overwhelmed the Yellow Jackets 20 to 0. Straight football aggressively played, told the tale. Only twice was Tech within striking distance of the Alabama goal and both times attempted goals from placement failed.

For the first two quarters Tech held Auburn to a scoreless tie. On the slippery field the Alabama backs appeared unable to start with their usual speed.

In the third quarter, however, Auburn braced and after a few minutes of play Newell circled right end for 25 yards and a touchdown. Arnold kicked goal. Hard, who went in at full back for Auburn, a few minutes later made a sensational run through the entire Tech team 65 yards for the second tally. Arnold again kicked goal.

In the fourth quarter Tech took a brace but was unable to withstand the relentless hammering of the Auburn backs and a few minutes before the game ended Hard again was sent across the line, Arnold this time missing the try for goal.

Despite the fact that the soggy ball frequently was fumbled the game was remarkably fast and clean.

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—Dartmouth defeated the University of Pennsylvania on a rain-soaked field here today 34 to 21. Neither team was able to make consistent gains by straight football and each frequently resorted to forward passes and kicks. Fumbles of the slippery ball and unusual plays were responsible for a majority of the touchdowns.

Pennsylvania made the first score shortly after the game started on a series of mass plays, a forward pass and a double pass.

A sixty-yard run by Louden, right end, from a forward pass enabled Dartmouth to tie the score in the same period. Then Pennsylvania fumbled on her three-yard line and Louden again carried it over. In the second period Dartmouth increased her lead by two touchdowns.

Pennsylvania made a desperate effort in the third period and scored two more touchdowns. Dartmouth scored another in the fourth.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Michigan defeated Cornell today 17 to 0. Cornell was outweighed, was also completely outplayed and outfought.

Michigan scored a touchdown early in the first period on a forward pass. In the third Captain Paterson, Wolverine center, kicked a goal from the 26-yard line. Michigan's double pass and forward pass planted the oval on the Cornell one-yard line and on the next play Hughitt, quarter, carried it across. The ball see-sawed during the rest of the game.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 8.—Showing a complete reversal of form, Yale today easily defeated Brown 17 to 0. The score, however, fails to indicate the superiority of the Blue eleven. Twice Yale missed place kicks by slight margins and twice was within striking distance of a touchdown but on each occasion lost the ball on an incomplete forward pass. Yale's defensive work was also excellent.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 8.—The Virginia Military Institute, by superior playing, defeated the North Carolina A. & M. College here today by the score of 14 to 7. The Carolinians, though heavier, were crippled by the loss of several star men, while the Cadets fought a brilliant battle and upset all previous calculations as to their ability to plow through the Tar Heel line. Captain Youell, captain of V. M. I., literally kicked his team to victory. Booting the ball and placing it where it would do the most damage to the opposition he kept his goal from danger and put A. & M. on the defensive from the first kickoff until the final whistle. Throughout the first half the Cadets turned back the attack of the Carolinians with comparative ease.

V. M. I. scored a safety in the second quarter. The Cadets got their two touchdowns in the third period, from neither of which was a goal kicked. The Carolinians scored in the final period of play.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 8.—Washington and Lee defeated the University of North Carolina here today, 14 to 0, in a hard rain, which made good football impossible.

The feature of the game was an end run by Young, of Washington and Lee, after a punt formation for 75 yards, scoring a touchdown. Carolina, though lighter, gave Washington and Lee a hard battle, the victors having to work hard for their victory. A hard rain fell throughout the game and the field was covered with water and mud.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 8.—Chicago downed Northwestern 14 to 0 today, a squad of substitutes failing to score for the Marcons in the second half after Stagg's men had made two touchdowns in the first part of the game.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 8.—The Army ran up a big score today against Albright, defeating the visitors 77 to 0. Eleven touchdowns, eight goals from field, was the Army's total.

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—Carlisle outmatched Johns Hopkins in every department of the game at Homewood this afternoon. The final was 61 to 0.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—Playing Vanderbilt to a standstill in practically every department of the game, the University of Tennessee eleven was robbed of a tie with the Commodores today through failure to kick a goal after touchdown. Vanderbilt won 7 to 6.

Showing a versatile attack, the Volunteers started the game with a rush and scored their touchdown in the first period. Getting the ball on Vanderbilt's 45-yard line on a punt, Tennessee whirled it down the field in a series of line plunges and dashed to ground. Rainey, half back, scored from Vanderbilt's 14-yard line on an end run. Carroll's attempted goal went wide of the cross bar.

Vanderbilt's touchdown was made in the second quarter. Tennessee was penalized half the distance to the goal, a distance of 33 yards, for the slugging of Bayer, guard. Bayer was put out of the game. With the ball on the Tennessee 35-yard line, Beonsch made a forward pass to Captain E. Brown, who whirled yards across the goal line.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 8.—Although Bucknell's football team did not develop the strength expected, they were the first players to score against Navy this season. The final figures were Navy 70, Bucknell 7. Last year Bucknell defeated Navy 17 to 6.

Bucknell was unable to withstand the hammering of Navy's powerful backs.

In the third period the visitors played pluckily and two forward passes were followed by a touchdown.

Morgantown, W. Va., Nov. 8.—Near the close of the football game between Washington and Jefferson College and West Virginia University here today a stand on which 800 persons, including 300 women, were seated, collapsed, throwing the occupants into a heap. The cadets of West Virginia University untangled the mass. None was seriously hurt, but many suffered cuts and bruises. The game was continued, Washington & Jefferson winning 34 to 0.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 8.—In a game featured for spectacular plays, Sewanee defeated Alabama this afternoon by the score of 10 to 7. A field goal by Hammond early in the game gave Sewanee a lead that the Crimson was never able to overcome. Both teams fought desperately throughout. The playing of Tolley and Vandegraafe was the feature of the game. Again and again they skirted the ends and ploughed through broken fields for substantial gains.

THE "PHILLIES" MAY COME

Committee Sent to Confer With Directors Given Much Encouragement at Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

That only concerted and proper action by Wilmington business men will be necessary to induce the Philadelphia National League Baseball club to come to Wilmington to establish their training camp next Spring, was evidenced by a telegram received last night from Messrs. John Blomme and C. E. Greenamyer, who went to Philadelphia Friday night and met the club directors yesterday afternoon for a consultation. The following is a copy of the telegram received last night:

"Officials of the Philadelphia National League team are agreeable to coming to Wilmington to train if there is no objection by Manager Dooin. He will be consulted Monday at a meeting of the directors at Columbus, Ohio. Will decide definitely not later than next Saturday. We will get them sure with proper support of Wilmington business men."

If the selection of a training camp is left to Manager Dooin, as stated in this telegram, there should be no doubt as to his preference unless he has materially changed his views on the matter since his trip to Wilmington last March.

In an interview at that time Mr. Dooin said: "I expect to recommend to the president of the club that Wilmington be selected as the training point next season. The selection of the training camp will be made by the president, and I shall strongly urge that Wilmington be chosen." Continuing, Mr. Dooin stated that should he have a successful season, the selection of a camp would be left to him, and yesterday's message tends to confirm this.

Before leaving for Philadelphia, Mr. Blomme arranged the hotel accommodations, the proprietors of the new hotel being erected at Front and Walnut streets having given assurances that the hotel would be ready to accommodate the players by February 1st. The matter of rates was also arranged, and Messrs. Blomme and Greenamyer went to Philadelphia prepared to offer definite propositions to the league directors. Mr. Greenamyer, representing the promoters of Sunset Park, has donated a fine location for the training grounds and club house.

Should Mr. Dooin's decision be in favor of Wilmington, the next matter to be attended to will be the collection of the necessary funds to build first-class training grounds and club house on the Sunset Park site, which the business men of the city, who will be the ones materially benefitted by the coming of the club, will be called upon to donate. Wholehearted cooperation along this line will be necessary, as all towns selected as training camps by the various big league clubs are always called upon to do this, and are always glad to donate liberally because of the pecuniary advantage which will accrue to them from the presence in the city of 35 or 40 members of the team, as well as a big corps of special newspaper correspondents, who accompany them on their training trip.

During the time the club is quartered at Wilmington, some ten or fifteen thousand words would be telegraphed all over the United States every day, and this matter, bearing the Wilmington date-line, would appear in practically every paper in the country every day, which alone would constitute a decided boost for Wilmington.

The newly-formed Commercial Club has taken an active interest in the matter, and will no doubt aid in the final arrangements to a great extent should the final decision favor Wilmington.

Mayor Moore last night received a telegram from Messrs. Blomme and Greenamyer asking that he call a meeting of those interested for Monday. The telegram read: "Call meeting of the people interested in bringing Phillies to Wilmington. Monday; you designate the hour. We will get them." The meeting will probably be held late Monday afternoon.

AN APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC.

Statement Issued Last Night by the County Board of Health.

By request of the County Board of Health the following statement to the public, issued by that body last night, is given space in this morning's Star:

To the Public:

The Board of Health is forced to submit its case to the public. The recent amendment to the health law, passed by our Senator and Representative over the protest of this board and the Board of County Commissioners, as pointed out when the amendment was proposed, is affording the present City Council an opportunity for hampering the work of this department, and if the suggestions made by the Council when considering the budget submitted to them, are carried out will almost render useless the entire health organization of the county. This health organization as now constituted is the most complete in North Carolina and from the statements of those in a position to know is not surpassed by any city in the South of anywhere near the size of Wilmington.

The Board of County Commissioners have allowed the full amount asked for by the Board of Health for the coming seven months. The City Council, notwithstanding a signed agreement by a majority of them not to disturb the present salaries of the officials until the end of the fiscal year, have repudiated their agreement and refused to pass some of the most important items in the budget. Our representatives in the Legislature declined to incorporate in the law any provision for the settlement of differences that would surely arise between the Commissioners and the Council, and the Board of Health is suspended in mid-air and can do nothing towards bringing about a settlement. The members of the Board of Commissioners have declined to ask for a conference and give as a reason that the agreement made at a former conference has been flagrantly violated by City Council.

From our own knowledge the efficient work of the health department has been greatly interfered with by continual efforts to overcome unnecessary and uncalled for opposition and to correct reports that were sometimes malicious and at others mendacious, besides the ordinary opposition which is looked for when health measures are proposed which are new but none the less necessary.

We, therefore, wish to place the matter squarely before the people so that all may know and realize that in the opinion of the Board of Health the administration of this department will be seriously impaired by the action of the City Council and that the effective organization which has been built up during the past few years at so much effort and expense will be disintegrated and made comparatively useless.

From the communication received from the Council we are informed that they disapprove the salary of the county health officer, although this, by agreement was to stand until the end of the fiscal year. They have disapproved of the entire amount asked for sanitary police, thus leaving the Board of Health without any force with which to carry on this branch of the work.

The rather incongruous situation is, therefore, presented of a complete office organization without the additional force necessary to carry out its plans or execute its orders.

The City Council by its action in attempting to deprive the Board of Health of the services of a sanitary police force takes away from it the machinery for inspecting privies, for hunting up clandestine plumbing, from locating and reporting communicable diseases and other sicknesses which are not under the care of a physician, from collecting samples of water for analysis, from inspection of certain sewerage nuisances, from the inspection and licensing of restaurants, from observing and reporting on drainage, from investigating complaints which are continually coming to the department, from serving notices of the department on violators of ordinances, from placarding residences and watching the observance of quarantine, from supervising the maintenance of stables, from supplying disinfectants and advising as to their use and for performing the numberless other minor duties which necessarily grow out of the work of the health department of a city. We do not believe the community desires its health work to be so emasculated, and we take this method of presenting the case so that any efforts we may make to remedy this state of affairs may be understood by the public.

The agreement entered into by the joint committee follows:

"The Board of Health at the request of the City Council agree to relinquish to them the collection of carrion and slops and the scavenging work of the city.

"The Board of Health also releases the city and county from the payment of the balance of the amount of $9,218 contained in the budget for the work of scavenging, and also will turn over to the City Council all equipment now in use. The Board of Health retains, under the law, the supervision of the scavenging and street cleaning work, so far as the health interests of the city are concerned.

"The City Council from September 1st, will undertake the collection of carrion and slops and the scavenging work of the city.

"The City Council while not receding from the position that they have the right to fix salaries of the officials of the Board of Health, agree to continue the payment of the monthly installments of the budget as previously agreed on during the rest of the year without further protest.

"Signed: B. A. Merritt, Chas. C. Loughlin, D. N. Chadwick, M. S. Willard, J. B. Cranmer, C. P. Bolles."

Mr. Loughlin has consistently observed the terms of this agreement.

INDEPENDENT ATTRACTION.

Mr. Whitney and Miss Valentine Not on Regular Course.

The Boys' Brigade management yesterday received a letter from the Alkahest Lyceum Bureau stating that the next number of the Brigade Lyceum Course would be presented on Thursday night, December 4th. This will be the Schuman quintette, one of America's finest string quintettes. They have toured this entire country and are prime favorites wherever they have presented their concert.

Members of the committee having in charge the concert to be given by Myron W. Whitney Monday night, November 17th, have decided that they want a full house for this occasion regardless of whether they do any more than pay expenses, so they have decided to place the price at the low figure of 50 cents general admission. At this price they hope to have a large gathering of music lovers present to hear this really great concert by these two artists. Tickets will go on sale at Munson & Co.'s on Saturday morning, November 15th. No canvass for this sale will be made as it is felt by the committee that the demand for tickets should be such as to make this extra labor unnecessary.

Mr. Whitney, through the efforts of Mr. Chas. Dushan, has consented to sing a solo at St. James' Episcopal church next Sunday night. This is an unusual concession on the part of these great singers, but Mr. Whitney is one who is always pleased to assist in any church service where his splendid voice may in any manner add to the usefulness of such service. Doubtless a large congregation will be present to hear this artist in sacred solos.

Built Road at Castle Haynes.

The Castle Haynes Improvement Association desires to return its thanks to the Carolina Trucking Development Company for the use of a traction engine and to the County Commissioners for the use of a road machine, which were put to fine service at Castle Haynes Wednesday and Thursday in the improvement of the so-called track road leading from Castle Haynes depot to Sycamore avenue. The colonists at Castle Haynes did the work.

SUPERIOR COURT IN ROBESON

First of Two Weeks' Term at Lumberton—No General Observance of Good Roads Days—Seaboard Improvements.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Nov. 8.—The first week's work of the two weeks' term of Superior Court was completed Wednesday evening and Judge Lyon left for his home where he will remain uhtil Monday, returning in time to open court that morning. There was little work for the court to do and if the recorders keep nanding out justice as they have been doing, Superior Courts in Robeson will soon be a nonenity. There were only four bills presented for the attention of the grand jury.

One negro drew a sentence of 15 years in the penitentiary. Dock Lawson, a young man whose name is said to appear many times on the criminal docket, will be given attention next week. At a former term he was given the choice of leaving the State or serving two years on the roads. He left, but came back and was brought back here a few days ago from Whiteville. The civil docket is in such condition that the county commissioners have asked the Governor for a special two weeks term to convene December 1st.

Road Days, in this county, from what we can hear, were generally observed by the men and boys staying at home or elsewhere. If this proclamation had come before so many had been robbed, or whatever it may be called, there would have been a hearty response, but it came too late, and the father of the Robeson county road law is responsible. We are told on good authority that nearly $1,000 has been taken from men termed as of "road age" in Lumberton township, and on the 5th day of this month, the first of the days for the men and boys of the State to show their patriotism, one man, Mr. John Meares, a rural carrier, after doing his day's work, went out and threw a few shovels of dirt. If anyone else did that much it has not been reported. What proportion of the over $900 that has been collected goes to the road fund and what proportion did it cost to collect it?

People in Lumberton who have not already seen it should go down to the Seaboard passenger station and behold the change in things. The old tobacco warehouse which for years has been the first thing for passengers to see as they left trains, is no more. It has been torn down and most of the timber hauled away. This is one of Lumberton's greatest improvements for 1913.

An official of the Bank of Lumberton, which owns the Waverly Hotel, stated to your correspondent Thursday night that the occupants of the building would have until the 15th to vacate and that he expected work of tearing down would begin on the 17th. Lumberton is now without even the picture of a hotel, so far as we know, while in all other respects it is just the best town of its size in the State.

Mr. Regan McIntyre, who recently sold his interest in the Pope Drug Company, has purchased and assumed control of the Eagle Drug Company in Rockingham. Mr. McIntyre will in a short time remove to that town where he and Mrs. McIntyre will make their future home. Lumberton greatly regrets the loss of Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre and congratulates Rockingham on their removal to that town.

Mesdames J. Q. Beckwith, H. M. McAllister, R. R. Carlyle, L. R. Varser and others are arranging for a benefit concert for the organ fund of the Episcopal church in the opera house Thursday evening, the 20th. There is no question as to the success of the undertaking as the ladies in charge don't know failure. Lovers of high-class vocal and instrumental music will be given something out of the ordinary on this occasion.

Messrs. Beasley Brothers, who for some time have been conducting a grocery store at foot of the old wooden bridge, sold out this week to Messrs. C. P. and J. D. Powers, of Ten Mile. The business will be continued under the firm name of Powers Bros. Messrs. Beasley will devote their time to their livery business.

Dr. N. A. Thompson, who for several weeks has been in New York taking a post graduate course in surgery, writes The Star man that he expects to return about the 20th of this month.

Mr. O. S. Atkins, of Lillington, has taken a position with the Pope Drug Co. He has several years' experience and is a young man of engaging address, rapidly making friends with Lumberton people.

Mr. J. R. Todd, who recently came here from Lenoir to engage in business, received "from home" this week a bushels of "Dula Beauty" apples, which were grown at his home town. Your correspondent has seen many fine apples in Lumberton, but none to compare with these from Western North Carolina. They have taken first prize at all exhibitions wherever they have been shown, including Paris, France.

Sheriff Lewis is after the whole county, towns included, for 1913 taxes. At the same time Chief Redfern is notifying taxpayers of Lumberton that the town needs the money.

The Dan Millsaps residence, Seventh and Elm streets, is advertised to be sold at auction Monday, December 1st. It is a valuable property and will likely bring good money.

Lumberton as a terminal for Seaboard freights did not last but two weeks, as it was found that the plan did not work as well as running through, Wilmington to Hamlet.

Mr. A. H. Hinds killed a pig Thursday that weighed 375 after being dressed and cut up. The backbone weighed 35 pounds, the price being $7, or 20 cents the pound.

Contractor Jones was awarded the contract last night for the erection of three new brick stores for Messrs. J. H. Wishart, Q. T. Williams and Blacker Bros, on Chesnut street, between Fourth and Fifth. The buildings will be 24x90, two stories high. Work will begin next week. Mr. L. H. Caldwell is having erected a brick warehouse on Third street, between Elm and Water, and Mr. K. M. Biggs is placing material on his lot on Chesnut street, near the railroad for the erection of a brick building 24x100 feet. The building is already rented. In addition to these there are several other buildings in course of erection, leaving no excuse for idleness for those who desire to work.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Humphrey, of Point, Texas, arrived the first of the week to visit relatives in this section, among the number being Mr. W. H. Humphrey, a brother of Lumberton. Mr. Humphrey left here in April, 1871, and this is his first visit in the 42 years he has been away. Of course, everything is new to him and only a few people of his early life are here to greet him.

Dr. R. S. Beam, of McDonald, will remove his office to Lumberton in a few days for the practice of his profession.

Why eggs are cheaper in Wilmington than in Lumberton is beyond the comprehension of housekeepers, who have to buy them. The market reports tell the tale.

Mr. E. G. Schaeffer, claim agent of the Seaboard, made his first visit to Lumberton this week and expressed himself as being delighted with the town. He, like hundreds of others, says a hotel is the town's greatest need. That is a fact which no one will deny.

Jim Cotton, sent to the penitentiary from here this week, is a son of the late Abe Cotton, who at one time was the negro deputy postmaster under John Holloway, the colored postmaster of other days. The ladies of Lumberton 40 years ago were served at the postoffice by as black a man as ever happened and as impudent as he was black.

A telephone message from Wake Forest last night at 10 o'clock brought the sad news of the death of Mr. Geo. Warwick, at that place. Mr. Warwick was probably 60 years old. He was born and reared in Wishart's township about eight miles south of Lumberton and was a member of one of the oldest and most highly esteemed families. Probably 20 years ago he married Miss Mamie Wishart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Wishart, and she with eight children survive him. For a number of years he taught school at different institutions of learning in this county, but a year or two ago moved with his family to Wake Forest where he has since resided, having purchased a farm in that section. He is survived also by four sisters, Mesdames J. A. Barker and W. P. Barker and Miss Florence Warwick, of Lumberton, and Miss Catharine Warwick, a teacher in the Thomasville orphanage. It is supposed his remains will be brought to his old home for interment. Mr. Frank Hamilton, a brother-in-law of Mr. Warwick, left for Wake Forest this morning.

Mr. John Walker, manager of Carter's 5 and 10c store, returned from Winston last night, after spending a week with his parents. From Mr. Walker your correspondent learns that Mr. Arthur Prempert, an old Wilmington boy, who was a city mail carrier and was transferred to Winston several years ago, has been transferred to Baltimore. "Promp" has many friends in Wilmington.

From Sheriff Lewis we learned this morning that his brother, Mr. Herbert Lewis, of Moss Neck, is very ill with pneumonia.

Supt. McNeill, of the Lumberton cotton oil mill, stated this morning that the week closing today had been the best of the season for ginning cotton.

News has been received here of the sudden death this morning of Mrs. Annie Hill Alford, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Hil, D. D., which occurred at 8 o'clock at her home at Floral College. Acute indigestion was the cause of the death.

WHAT IS DOING IN RALEIGH

Pardon for Robeson Man—Wm. F. Harding Appointed Judge—Corporation Commission Hearings—Other News.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 8.—Governor Craig granted a pardon today for Dan Wallace, who has served since February, 1911, on a four-year sentence in the penitentiary for second degree murder, from Robeson county.

The reasons for the pardon are that the prisoner is old and in very poor health. The killing was done in defense of his son on the impulse of the moment when the life of his son was in peril of an antagonist and because the pardon is asked for by Judge Cooke, who tried the case, the prosecuting attorneys and many citizens and county officers.

Governor Craig this afternoon appointed Wm. F. Harding, of Charlotte, judge of the 14th district to succeed Judge C. H. Duls, resigned. The district consists of Mecklenburg and Gaston counties. Judge Harding's first court will be in his home town and is to convene Monday.

One of the three story brick buildings on the Leonard Medical School of Shaw University for negroes, was damaged probably to the extent of $4,000, including damage to laboratory apparatus, early this morning. The blaze was discovered about 1 o'clock by W. C. Craver, of Shaw faculty, and the fire was confined to the one building and most of the damage was on the second and third floors, although water necessarily damaged the whole building and all the equipment, much of which was quite costly. President Maserve, of the university, says the damage is entirely covered by insurance.

Members of the Corporation Commission returned this morning from Charlotte where they gave a public hearing on the much mooted question of the location of the proposed union passenger station, and they are preparing for a considerable trip through the State next week for hearings. They are to be in Elizabeth City Monday for a hearing involving permission for the Norfolk Southern to change the location of its passenger station so as to cut out necessity of backing into the town and thereby losing much time. On Tuesday the commission will be in LaGrange to hear the differences between the railroad company and the citizens as to the character and location of the new passenger station to take the place of one burned. On Wednesday the commission will hear differences between the Atlantic Coast Line and the citizens of the two towns of Rose Hill and Wallace as to the location of new stations in each. The hearings will be in the respective towns. On Thursday the commission will be in Warsaw to hear petitions involving telephone service. Then on Friday the commission will give a special hearing in Wilmington on the question of reductions in the freight rate of crossties that has been pending for some time and in which J. F. Head is special counsel for the petitioners. The demand is for a considerable reduction on the cross-tie rates in North Carolina, especially to Wilmington, to correspond to rates already enjoyed by ports further south.

A charter is issued for the Reavis-Barrow-Stuart Co., of Franklinton, capital $25,000 authorized and $50,000 subscribed by P. A. Reavis and others for mercantile business.

Major W. A. Graham, commissioner of Agriculture, just back from the Edgecombe county fair at Tarboro, says the exhibits of cattle and hogs were especially fine and the agricultural exhibits were remarkably good in view of the very considerable crop damage that was sustained in that section through the Autumn storm. Speaking of North Carolina agricultural conditions in general Commissioner Graham says that while the cotton crop for the State will scarcely be more than 700,000 bales instead of the 800,000 expected, that still there was an exceptionally fine corn crop, a good corp of tobacco as very high prices and yields of wheat and other small grains that were record breakers, the condition of the farmers is most encouraging and the year has been a prosperous one.

An ultimatum that isn't an ultimatum is a bluff.

Don't follow advice so far in the rear that you may lose sight of it and fail to get the benefit of it.

Governor Glynn, of New York, says: "I have no boss." Are we to infer that there is no Mrs. Glynn?

A man is sure to make progress if he gets behind his work instead of getting behind with his work.

If a man gets the rocks early in life he is not apt to get on the rocks when he is "old and only in the way."

Many a man can draw a check but couldn't draw a crowd unless he got it cashed and gave it out that he was going to run for an office.

No doubt the Hon. John Lind would like a more agreeable position than to waste much more time in trying to hold down the Mexican situation.

Don't forget that a factory payroll campaign ought to be started in Wilmington without waiting till after Christmas.

Just as was expected. Mr. Looney, of Tazewell, was elected to the Virginia Legislature in last Tuesday's election. The paragraphers on the Virginia papers will have a cinch.

Says the Jacksonville Times-Union: "Sulzer may hold the balance of power in the New York Legislature." In that event he would have the temptation of his life to keep right on being "the same old Bill."

Judge Edward E. McCall, recent Tammany nominee for Mayor of New York, has gone to Hot Springs, Va., for a rest. He was in hot water in New York, but it wasn't so agreeable as getting in it at Hot Springs.

Why Congress should talk so long on questions intended for the good of the masses is a mystery to people who do not think proposed legislation of a wholesome character needs much discussion. It also seems quite queer that such matters are made party questions when there seems to be no reason for party division on purely economic measures.

Boss Murphy of Tammany, is taking defeat without a whimper. He contents himself by declaring that "there is another day coming." Yes, and there is no use to be a pessimist because nobody can tell what a day may bring forth. The only thing we fear about Tammany is that if it is not allowed to win it will see to it that nobody else shall win.

We are satisfied that most of the organizations which propose to promote the interests of the South mean well, but they lack the definite plan and organized system that will accomplish concrete results. That is the reason so many of them start off well and then fade from existence after several years without being able to point to achievements enough to make a record.

A few years ago a man could have more than a gallon in his possession without violating the prohibition act. Now, however, the search and seizure act makes it prima facie evidence that the possessor of the liquor is a retailer. In fact and in truth, it may be prima facie evidence of the fact that he has neglected to call in his friends. He could easily be convicted of being a sober-sided tight wad.

THIS IS CORN SHOW WEEK.

The Corn Show, "made-in-Wilmington" exhibit and art display to be held in Wilmington next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, will be worth a visit by everybody in this city and county. It will be both educational and entertaining, and all interested in the progress of the county and city should attend for two reasons—to see whether it demonstrates the agricultural adaptibilities of this section in a way that it should and to judge by this rather impromptu fair what is needed to increase its scope for next Fall in a way that it shall be completely representative of this versatile soil and climate. When Wilmington has anything, it should be the aim to put its best foot forward, and we should see this display with a view to seeing it one better next Fall.

This will be the first Corn Show in eastern North Carolina and it is significant of the fact that it will prove that corn can be grown profitably in our generous tidal soil. It ought to be the beginning of the end of our dependence upon any other country for a grain so peculiarly adapted to this portion of North Carolina. We do not hesitate to say that the best corn lands in the South are the rich alluvial lands along our rivers and creeks, and in savannahs and pocosins that are sufficiently drained for cultivation. We have long ago become convinced of the marvelous possibilities of this region and everybody else should become convinced of it in order to proclaim its advantages. The show this week will give us an object lesson, which, however academic it may be to start with, will be worth our attention and open our eyes.

Not alone should the people of this immediate community manifest interest in this display of progress, but it is hoped many adjoining counties will send their boys to see what the Boys' Corn Clubs can do when they take advantage of an opportunity. The people of other counties who may come here will not only have the advantage of seeing what is to be seen, but they will be specially interested and benefitted by listening to the addresses to be delivered by able speakers and experts. Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of education, a power in the campaign of enlightenment in North Carolina, will deliver an address on Wednesday. He will speak on education, the kind that leads up to all progress, for we cannot become fully educated up to our industrial and economic possibilities till we banish ignorance from the land. Today it is the enlightened men and women who most appreciate this country's resources and who are leading in the march of progress along every line. All lines become less in resistance when we know how to follow them to success.

Then, see who is to be here to unfold the story of North Carolina's agricultural awakening, and to point out some of the adaptibilities and opportunities that lie so prodigally about us. Mr. C. R. Hudson, of Raleigh, who is in charge of farm demonstration in North Carolina, will speak on that work next Tuesday. On Wednesday morning Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, of Raleigh, director of the Girls' Canning Club work, will speak with reference to the character and progress of that movement in the State. This well-equipped North Carolina woman is doing a marvelous work among the girls of the State, and future husbands will rise up to call the practical housewives of the future blessed. This is a great work for North Carolina and only those of the future can fully realize it, but Mrs. McKimmon will put us in the way of appreciating what it means for the coming women and men of the State. Mrs. M. L. Stover, president of the North Carolina Sorosis, will introduce Mrs. McKimmon.

On the Wednesday morning programme also is Miss Edith Royster, of Raleigh, assistant superintendent of public instruction in Wake county. That talented lady is president of the North Carolina Betterment Association and she is recognized as a leader in community work looking to better environments in which to live and get the most out of life as we can make it. She will speak on betterment work, and there is no more important movement for the progress of a community.

One of the speakers Wednesday afternoon will be Mr. T. E. Brown, of Ahoskie, director of the Boys' Corn Clubs, who has been in direct touch with the work in eastern North Carolina. He is an educated, experienced farmer, and is both enthusiastic and successful in this new work of productive education.

The show will open Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in The Morning Star building, 109 Chesnut street, and the programme will be opened with an address of welcome by Mayor Parker Quince Moore. The programme previously published in The Star, will be full of interest, besides the addresses to which we have alluded.

THE MEXICAN CRISIS.

It is hard to tell what this week will bring forth in the relations of the United States with Mexico. The people of this country sympathize with those of Mexico over the disturbed conditions there, yet at the same time Americans and foreigners alike are annoyed by the turbulence which has prevailed in that country for the last five years. However, we are mostly concerned with the duty of our own Republic in the Mexican crisis, and we must soon know what the final steps to be taken by President Wilson are to be.

The situation at present seems to be that President Wilson refuses to recognize the dictatorship of President Huerta and insists upon constitutional government representing the Mexican people before the United States can recognize any form of government there. The exact terms of President Wilson's demands upon President Huerta are not fully known to the public, but it is generally accepted that our President demands his elimination and will not recognize any self-appointed successor that he may name contrary to constitutional form. Huerta declines to eliminate himself and denies the right of this country to eliminate him or to interfere with the purely domestic concern of Mexico which is itself a sovereign independent of this country.

As President of the United States and Commander-in-Chief of its armies, no doubt Mr. Wilson has decided upon a course which he has been pursuing with great wisdom and forbearance. Whether his demands upon President Huerta are such that our Commander-in-Chief will order his armies there in the event of Huerta's refusal to acceed to them, remains to be seen.

Would such refusal mean a casus belli on the part of the United States? Has Mexico committed any act of war against the United States sufficient to cause an invasion of that country by this? It is for President Wilson and his advisers to decide, and certainly it is a grave duty they face, whatever may be their final decision. We have confidence in President Wilson, and we are inclined to believe that he will resist as long as possible the clamor for armed intervention in Mexico. His course so far lends color to the presumption that this country has no right, except it be purely a moral one, to interfere in the affairs of any other country.

Have we any legal or moral right to intervene? If we intervene, what will be the consequences for this country? What will be the consequences for Mexico? What would be the relations of the two countries for the future? Will we have to hold ourselves in readiness at all times to assure order in a country that is not actually a part of our own? These are grave questions, and the action to be determined upon by President Wilson is full of gravity now and for the future. Insisting that "Huerta Must Go Out", the Washington Post has this to say:

"It is now perfectly evident that Victoriano Huerta must get out of the provisional presidency of Mexico, and loosen his grip on the governmental machine. He will not be permitted to dodge the issue by putting a stool-pigeon in his place, or by forcing the Mexican Congress to provide for another sham election under such conditions as would insure Huerta's continued acscendency.

"The irresistible pressure, exerted upon Huerta by the United States has not been fully appreciated, because it has been exerted silently. President Wilson from the first has been inflexible in his determination that Huerta must go. What he has in mind for Mexico after Huerta's elimination is not made plain, but that Huerta's days are numbered is now very clear.

"Huerta's defiance of the United States, his attempts to involve European nations in the imbroglio, and his desperate effort to subdue the revolutionists will not avail. Stripped of the support of the Mexican people his defiance becomes mere individual stubbornness. Foreign nations will not be made his cats-paws and run the risk of straining their friendly relations with the United States. The revolutionists, whether bandits or political schemers, are evidently strong enough to defy Huerta and even to make inroads upon him.

"President Wilson is about to succeed in dislodging Huerta without firing a gun. Patience and an inexorable pressure are doing the work. It remains to be seen what Mr. Wilson will propose as a solution of the Mexican problem after Huerta has been eliminated, but all patriotic Americans will support him in his quiet but firm determination to force Mexico to put its house in order. If the time should come for the President to adopt sterner measures, the people will support him wholeheartedly well knowing that he would not resort to them without having first tried all other methods of setlifng the difficulty."

Yet there is another view of it and it is ably presented in the Wall Street Journal. It is against intervention, and as it is a matter of great interest at this time we reproduce it on this page of The Star. President Wilson has a lot to consider just at this time, and we are sure the country will sympathize with him in the grave problem that he has on his hands. We believe the President is wary if the right of this country to intervene and that is evidenced by his patience and forbearance for so long a time.

THE SILO BY ITSELF.

The Charlotte Chronicle says the dairymen of that city now propose to increase the price of milk from 10 cents a quart to 12 1-2 cents for sweet milk, and from 12 1-2 cents a gallon to 15 cents a gallon for buttermilk. They claim that they are barely making six per cent. on their investment, and commenting upon the probable increase of milk in Charlotte The Observer says:

"Now the Charlotte dairymen are said to be arranging to raise the price of milk, the same excuse of the increased price of foodstuffs being advanced as in the case of the Wilmington dairymen. The landscape about Charlotte is dotted with silos and we will have to look around for some better reason."

Probably the silos are on the landscape but are not filled. There has to be forage crops, Winter grazing and well-filled silos if we propose to do a dairy business in this country. We will have to come to it.

CURRENT COMMENT.

When Senator Simmons takes hold of the currency bill—and we say this with no intention to reflect on the other Senators who hang breathlessly on our words—he will rattle a few dry bones, if you please. Interpreted this means that currency legislation will progress. That's Furnifold's way.—Raleigh Times.

It begins to look as if a Simmons will be needed to line up the Democratic Senators on the Senate Currency Committee. Senator Owen is a very fine man, but the fact remains that the Democratic members of his committee are not united in an effort to do their part in carrying out the platform. O'Gorman, Reed and Hitchcock have evidently been mismanaged in some way.—Raleigh News and Observer.

In New York harbor the other day an incoming ship, carrying dressed beef from Argentina, passed an outgoing vessel carrying cattle on the hoof destined for European markets. This is, indeed, as the Nashville Tennesseean puts it, "one of the anomalies of the meat situation," but what is or can be done to correct this anomaly? We have let in the incoming product—something which should have been done long ago; but how shall we prevent the outgoing cattle from continuing to go out?—Richmond Journal.

COUNTY ROAD WORK.

Chairman Willard Explains Situation As It Obtains in County.

To the Public:

It would seem from the comments in the papers that the public is interested in the road work in Federal Point township. Before referring to the proposed road from the present macadamized road to the new seashore resorts I would state that already during the past year more road work has been done in Federal Point township than in all the rest of the county together. One of the most definite ideas of the writer when he became connected with the road work was to get a good road into the lower end of the county, and this idea has never changed in the slightest. With this in view he, with the approval of the other members of the permanent road committee, rushed the completion of the Whiskey Creek loop and rebuilt with macadam the section of sand-clay road just beyond Mr. A. O. McEachern's dairy farm. When this entire loop was completed the work was taken up (without any suggestion from those now interested), on the building of a good road towards Carolina Beach. This work has been carried on continuously up to the present and will no doubt be continued until finished as contemplated from the beginning. Shortly after work on the road was commenced there developed considerable activity in real estate transactions in that end of the county and a new seashore resort was placed before the public and a number of investors interested. This has been gratifying to the Board of Commissioners and we have been disposed to push the work as much as possible without interfering with the needs for road improvement which were being urgently presented to us by the farmers and residents of other parts of the county. There have been a number of conferences between the Commissioners and those most interested in the land transactions in this section, for the purpose of agreeing on some proposition by which they would aid in the construction of the road and thus expedite its building. For the road to be built by the county forces in the period of time desired by these gentlemen, it would have been necessary for us to take every man engaged in road work in the county and put them on this enterprise and also invest in a considerable amount of additional road building equipment.

We were convinced and are still of the opinion, that this would not have been just to other portions of the county. The only other thing to do was to take whatever sum these gentlemen were willing to expend out of their own funds, supplement it with an amount from the county, and turn the work over to some contractor who had sufficient teams and equipment to rush the road to completion. With this end in view we have corresponded with a number of road contractors and have had two to come here and go over the road for the purpose of making a proposition to us. The only definite proposition we have received which was in such shape that we could have accepted it was to construct the stipulated road for $1.00 per square yard. This would have cost $11,773 a mile not including the grading which the county was expected to do. If we had accepted this proposition and deducted the $1,000 per mile offered us by individuals we would have expended very nearly all of our recent bond issue on this one road. I really believe we would not have found a citizen who is a taxpayer of any amount who would have approved of this.

Our reply to the proposition of the gentlemen who offered to pay $1,000 per mile was dated October 4th and was as follows:

"The figures we have received so far indicate that the cost of building this road by contract would be so high as to prohibit our considering the construction of this road in this way. We are anxious to push this road as fast as we can without interfering with our other county work and it seems to me the only proposition we can make which will be just to other portions of the coutny and at the same time aid in the speedy completion of the road, is about as follows:

"'We will agree to keep one road force at work on this road steadily. This force will be as near twenty (20) men as we can keep it. There will, of course, for a short period be a smaller number of men but it will be our object to keep it at this number unless some unforseen circumstances should arise. We will agree to spend whatever money is contributed by landowners in that section to the very best advantage in the completion of this road, and this amount will be spent in addition to the work we can do with the force mentioned above. We are inclined to believe now that the quickest way of expediting the completion of the road would be to purchase road material and use that instead of our own county rock. We believe by doing this we would be able to get a good part of the road finished by the latter part of next Summer.

"'We will be glad to know whether this proposition appeals to you and if it does would further like to know what amount you could place at the disposal of the county. As soon as we hear from you we will take up at once with the dealers the purchase of their material. We would state that the material we now have in view is the cement gravel in the quarries at Lillington, and that the width of the road would be fifteen (15) feet instead of twenty (20) as proposed by you.'"

To this we have received no reply but are continuing our work just as laid out in the beginning. It should be realized in this connection that $1,000 per mile would hardly pay one-half the cost of the extra width required in the road for the construction of which the offer was made.

During the past year we have had a number of difficult problems to solve in road work. We found the Wrightsville turnpike, the Scott's Hill road and a great part of the Castle Haynes road in such condition that they needed re-surfacing and almost re-building. These are the principal macadamized roads of the county. We found the Federal Point road almost impassable on account of a stretch of so-called sand-clay road. We found several miles of the Whiskey Creek macadamized road unfinished and we received periodically urgent requests, all of which were meritorious, to improve the Acorn Branch road, including that portion of the Wrightsville turnpike fronting the sound, the road leading from the Scott's Hill road to Middle Sound, the road continuing from Greenville Sound by Hewlett's Creek to the Masonboro road, the Island Creek road leading out from Castle Haynes, and in addition it was absolutely necessary that the road to the new Northeast river bridge should be built. There were the principal roads calling for attention while numberless requests were continually being made for minor stretches of road in different parts of the county.

Out of all this we have built the road to the bridge; we have finished the uncompleted Whiskey Creek road; we have macadamized the sand-clay road beyond Mr. McEachern's; we have built several miles of good soil road from the Castle Haynes road past the Tuberculosis Hospital and beyond Acorn Branch; we have worked steadily repairing the Wrightsville turnpike, and other macadamized roads, and have cleared and straightened the right-of-way for about eight or nine miles on the road towards Fort Fisher, and wherever we have undertaken the building of a new road we have made it the full width of forty feet. We cannot expect to do this road work so that it will meet the approval of everyone but we believe we are in a position to best appreciate the needs of this county and we are using our best judgment to conserve the interests of the entire county.

SUPERIOR TRAINING TELLS

Wilmington Highs Won From Donaldson Eleven on Gridiron Yesterday, Making Fourth Consecutive Victory.

Superior training and condition told against weight on Parsley field, Hilton, yesterday afternoon, and Wilmington High School football team defeated the Donaldson eleven of Fayetteville by a score of 41 to 0. This is Wilmington's fourth consecutive victory of the season without a single defeat, and guarantees that the local team will be in the contest for State championship honors, Raleigh being the only other High School team in the State that has not been defeated by a team of equal rank.

Six touchdowns and a safety tell the score. At no time was Wilmington's goal in danger, and the 300 spectators realized from the first whistle that the result was only a question of the size of the score. The visitors fought pluckily throughout, but were able neither to gain consistently nor check Wilmington's persistent and dashing attack. The day was warm, and this circumstance seemed to add to Donaldson's disadvantage.

The entire Wilmington team played star football. Particular luminaries in the bright constellation were: Thames, captain, at right tackle; Hicks, at left tackle; I. Silverman and N. Silverman, at ends; Hall, at quarter; Grant, at right half, and Thompson, at full, the line plunging of the latter being an outstanding feature. For Donaldson, Kirven, at full; Watson at tackle; Singleton at left half; and Venable at center, played particularly well. Venable's work on defense was responsible for many of Wilmington's failures to gain through the line.

Game in Detail.

Wilmington kicked to Donaldson at the north goal. Donaldson failed to gain over Wilmington's line and punted outside on the 45-yard line. A series of short end runs and a forward pass for 15 yards put the ball within striking distance of Donaldson's goal, and Thompson was sent over for the first touchdown. Hashagen failed at goal. Score, Wilmington 6; Donaldson 0.

Donaldson kicked to Wilmington. An exchange of punts gave Wilmington the ball on her 45-yard line. Hall's 15-yard end run, and two successful forward passes placed the ball across the line for a second touchdown. The try at goal failed. Score, Wilmington 12; Donaldson 0.

Wilmington kicked to Donaldson at north goal. After several short gains the ball went to Wilmington on downs on Donaldson's 40-yard line. A penalty stopped Wilmington's march to a third touchdown and the quarter ended with the ball in Wilmington's possession on Donaldson's 35-yard line.

Early in the second quarter two successive fumbles by Donaldson resulted in a safety for Wilmington, and made the score 14 to 0 for Wilmington. Donaldson kicked to Wilmington. Grant returned the kick-off 20 yards. End runs, line plunges, and a well executed forward pass, Hall to Ike Silverman, carried the ball all the way for the third touchdown. Hall kicked goal. Score: Wilmington 21; Donaldson 0.

Donaldson kicked to Wilmington. Thompson returned 25 yards. A steady march down field brought the ball again close to Donaldson's goal, where Donaldson held, and two attempts at forward pass failed to net the desired goal. The ball went to Donaldson on her 10 yard line. Donaldson punted to Wilmington in the middle of the field, and the half ended.

Second Half.

Donaldson kicked to Wilmington. Hashagen tore off 25 yards around right end. Wilmington was forced to kick on Donaldson's 20-yard line and the ball went across the goal line. Donaldson put the ball in scrimmage on her 20-yard line. Fumbles by Donaldson gave Wilmington the ball, but an incomplete forward pass was intercepted by Donaldson and the ball carried to the 30-yard line. Wilmington again got the ball on a fumble. A series of rushes through line put the ball on Donaldson's two-yard line, and Thompson went over for the touchdown. Hall kicked goal. Score, Wilmington 28; Donaldson 0.

Wilmington kicked to Donaldson, who returned to the 30-yard line. Wilmington was penalized 15 yards for interference. Donaldson added another first down. A fumble was recovered by Rhodes, and the quarter ended with the ball in Wilmington's possession in the middle of the field.

Wilmington was held for downs in the middle of the field and the ball went over. Thompson intercepted a forward pass and ran 20 yards. Thompson got eight yards. Grant added eight yards. Hall made 15, but Wilmington was penalized 15 yards on the play for holding. Thompson made first down on forward pass. Hall got 10 more. Donaldson intercepted forward pass. After gaining on two forward passes Donaldson was held for downs and the ball went over. Thompson made 20 yards. Grant got 15 around end. Hall carried the ball the remaining six yards for the touchdown. Hall failed at goal. Score, Wilmington 34, Donaldson 0.

Wilmington kicked to Donaldson, Donaldson failed on three successive forward passes, and kicked outside in the middle of the field. Hall made 20 yards. On the next play a beautifully executed forward pass, Hall to Corbett, gave the last touchdown. Hall kicked goal. Score Wilmington 41; Donaldson 0.

The line-up of the teams follow: Wilmington—I. Silverman, left end; Hicks and Wells, left tackle; Johnson and Monroe, left guard; Rhodes, center; Hanby and Nurnberger, right guard; Thames, (captain), right tackle; N. Silverman and Corbett, right end; Hall, quarter; Hashagen, left half; Grant, right half; Thompson, full back. Donaldson—Graham, left end; Watson, left tackle; Williamson, left guard; Venable, center; Kyle and Rankin, right guard; Patterson, right tackle; Newton, right end; Williams, quarter; Smith, left half; Singleton, right half; Kirven (captain), fullback.

Referee, Bill Shaw, (Davidson); umpire, T. Smith, (Davidson); timekeepers, J. B. Huntington and J. U. King; head linesman, Seitters, Y. M. C. A. Quarters 12, 12, 12, 12.

Song and Praise Service.

There will be a service of song and prayer at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The men and boys of the city are cordially invited to join in the service. These song meetings under the leadership of Mr. Edward Roberts, the boys' work director, are greatly enjoyed by all who attend.

TUESDAY FIRST DAY OF FAIR

Everything in Readiness for Opening of Corn Show and Industrial Exhibit—Some Interesting Addresses Wednesday.

The final arrangements are being made and everything is practically ready for the opening of the New Hanover Corn Show, Fine Arts and Industrial Exhibit on Tuesday morning. This promises to be one of the big events of the year in the history of the county, and there will be thousands of visitors to the city during the three days of the fair.

On Wednesday the children of the public schools of the county will have a holiday, and they together with their teachers will be here to hear the splendid addresses to be given in the Academy of Music, and to see the fine exhibits of all kinds in the building across Chesnut street from the postoffice. Thursday, the final day of the fair, will be known as Corn Show Day, and the prizes for the best exhibits of corn and the best yields will be awarded at that time.

Tuesday morning Mayor Parker Quince Moore will make the welcoming address to the visitors and Mr. C. R. Hudson, of Raleigh, will address the farmers on demonstration work. Wednesday will be Educational Day, and Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of public instruction, will deliver an address on educational work. Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, of Raleigh, director of the Girls' Canning Clubs, will speak on this work. Miss Edith Royster, of Raleigh, assistant superintendent of public instruction for Wake county, will speak on betterment work. Wednesday afternoon Mr. T. E. Browne, of Raleigh, director of the Boys' Corn Clubs, will speak on this important subject.

The Corn Show and Fine Arts and Industrial Exhibit will be complete in every detail. The exhibitions will include products of the fertile lands of New Hanover, the handiwork of the ladies and children, the manufactures of the various enterprises of the city. This will be given in the building at No. 109 Chesnut street, opposite the postoffice.

There will be no admission charge and all the people of the city and county are invited to attend. It will be well worth while, and everyone who possibly can do so should avail themselves of this opportunity to learn something of the varied resources of this section.

All who expect to send in exhibits of any kind should send them in Monday. The committees in charge of the different exhibits will be at the building all day to receive them. Farmers who have exhibits of perishable products can bring them in Tuesday morning.

A rest room on the second floor of the building has been provided for the ladies. Special accommodations have been made for mothers and their children.

Lunch will be served at the usual hours in the private dining room which has been fitted up, and the business men of Wilmington are invited to take lunch at the building. Hot oysters, hot coffee, sandwiches and home-made cookery will be served.

Daily during the fair souvenirs will be distributed by the different firms who desire to advertise their special products.

Coffee will be demonstrated daily at the Pure Food Store to all visitors free of charge. Tea and crackers will be served by the People's Supply Company, chocolate by the Wilmington Grocery Company, and coffee by the Tidewater Grocery Company.

The Coca-Cola Company will have a soft drink stand, and the profits form this will go to the Boys' Corn Club of this county. Five large handsome clocks will be given away.

Mothers who have had their babies examined can get their scorecards at the building, No. 109 Chesnut street, on Wednesday. It will be a matter of interest to many to learn that there have been 150 babies examined to date. The physicians in charge of this feature state that they were all remarkably healthy and make a splendid showing for New Hanover.

The Tidewater Grocery Company through its manager, Mr. J. H. Stone, announces that during the Fair it will give away 100 five-pound packages of the famous Juno flour to callers at the Pure Food Store.

For the accommodation of the school children and their teachers the Tidewater Power Company will run three of its suburban cars from Wrightsville Wednesday, leaving there at 9:30 o'clock, and stopping at all the stations. The children will be transported absolutely free of charge. The cars on the return trip will leave Wilmington at 4 o'clock.

One of the interesting features of the exhibit will be the skin of a rattle snake which measures 12 inches in circumference and seven feet two inches in length. It has 17 rattles and a button. This will be interesting to both old and young.

Through an oversight of the committee in charge Stone & Co., was credited in yesterday's Star with a generous contribution made by the Tidewater Grocery Company to the Pure Food Store of Sorosis consisting of one case of Wesson oil, one case of snow drift lard, one case of crisco coffee, etc. The ladies of Sorosis are deeply grateful to this live and progressive firm for this fine contribution.

The Cape Fear Grocery Company has given a half barrel of "BeNe of Wilmington" to be given as a prize for the best biscuit, rolls or bread made from this reliable flour.

The committee having in charge the collection of the articles for the art exhibit at the Sorosis Fair desire that all centerpieces, collars and cuff sets and other articles of this character as far as possible be based on cambric or stout paper before sending to the hall.

All pictures and hand-painted china and fancy articles should be sent to the hall on Monday as early as possible.

The greatest care and caution will be exercised in the handling of all pictures and china to guard against breakage and any damage whatever.

All drawings and water color work of the school children must be at the hall not later than Monday afternoon so that the judges may pass upon them late in the afternoon and have the ten best ready for exhibition Tuesday morning.

For further particulars telephone No. 149.

Those desiring to enter for the $5 prize for the best cut flowers will please send in their exhibit to the old Southern Express office building on Tuesday afternoon.

WOMAN'S BODY IDENTIFIED

Wiley Hill, Colored, Arrested on Suspicion of Being Implicated in Death—Coroner's Jury Investigating.

Beyond identifying the body as that of Cornelia Pollock little was done yesterday towards clearing up the circumstances surrounding the death of the colored woman found on the tracks of the Tidewater Power Company near Delgado village Friday night. Wiley Hill, colored, with whom she had been living for several years, according to evidence before the jury, was arrested by Sheriff Cowan on a warrant issued by Justice Harriss as being possibly implicated in the death of the woman.

The jury impanneled Friday night by Coroner Fowler, met yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Court House, and after examining a half dozen witnesses took a recess until this morning at 10 o'clock when other witnesses will be examined. In order to arrive at some satisfactory conclusion as to how death was caused it was thought best to have an autopsy made, and Dr. John Thames, assistant county health officer, will make an examination of the body this morning.

The first witness examined yesterday afternoon was Lucy Nixon, colored, who testified that she was a cousin of Cornelia Pollock, and upon visiting Shaw's undertaking establishment yesterday morning had identified the body there as being that of Cornelia Pollock. This woman, she said, had been living with Wiley Hill for five or six years at a place near Delgado about half a mile from where the body was found near the tracks of the Tidewater Power Company. She stated that the Pollock woman sometimes got drunk. She hadn't seen her in two weeks, and did not know anything about her death until yesterday morning.

Before coming to the city yesterday she had visited the home of Wiley Hill, and found lots of dishes strewn over the floor, and some of the furniture broken up as if there had been a scuffle of some kind. She had known him to beat the Pollock woman. She also stated that when she found him that he was drunk. She identified some articles of clothing, found near the house, as having belonged to the Pollock woman.

Mr. J. P. Jones, who has charge of excavating work at the old baseball park, was examined and testified that William Dore, colored, had stated to him that he was with the Pollock woman about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. Dore had been drinking, and was so drunk that he was unable to work yesterday.

Mr. Joseph Roderick, watchman at the Delgado mill, testified that he examined the body shortly after the car had passed. He was of the opinion that death could not have been caused by the car running over the body.

Manuel Rhodes, colored, also viewed the body soon after the car passed, and testified as to its position. W. D. Nixon, colored, identified the body as being that of Cornelia Pollock. J. H. Shaw, the colored undertaker, who has the body in charge, described the nature of the wound on the head.

At 6 o'clock the jury took a recess until 10 o'clock this morning. The members of the jury are Messrs. C. L. Dickinson, foreman; Dan Quinlivan, secretary; W. M. Munroe, N. R. Davis, D. M. Davis and C. H. Daniels. County Solicitor Peschau conducted the examination of witnesses.

Wiley Hill, colored, when found yesterday morning by Sheriff Cowan and Deputy Sheriffs Kelly and Reynolds, was so drunk that he was incapable of walking. He was placed in jail to sober up, and may be examined today by the jury.

William Dore, colored, who stated that he was with the dead woman at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, was brought to the city last night by Deputy Sheriff Kelly and Special County Officer Joe Lane. He was held as a material witness, and will be examined today. Being unable to give the required bond of $50 last night he went to jail.

WEEK OF PRAYER.

Special Services at Y. M. C. A. Each Night This Week.

This week will be observed as a week of prayer for young men and boys in every country by the Young Men's Christian Associations throughout the world. This call has been issued by the International Committee because they realize that the associations must respond to the appalling spiritual needs of young men, and that it is only possible to meet these needs through prayer, and that through this method there is an opportunity to render service to a "world of sinning, suffering men, each one a brother."

The International Committee also realizes that the associations are passing through a period of unexcelled prosperity, but also one that is fraught with insidious perils. Throughout the associations there is a deep soul longing for a more adequate manifestation of supernatural results, and they are not satisfied with the present situation. These facts and desires have led the Y. M. C. A. all over the world to plan for personal hours of prayer, group meetings for prayer and public and evangelistic meetings with a definite call to the Christian life.

The Y. M. C. A. in Wilmington will hold a service of song and prayer this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the lobby of the new building, and each night throughout the week from 7:30 to 8 o'clock a prayer service will be held in the rooms on the second floor, conducted by Christian laymen of the city. Every man in Wilmington is cordially invited to attend these services.

Following are the subjects for each meeting this week: Sunday "Association Day"; Monday, "The Power of God Unto Salvation"; Tuesday, "The Power of God for Our Spiritual Lives"; Wednesday, "That All May be Done"; Friday, "The Power of God in Witnessing"; Saturday, "The Power of God for Conquest."

SUPERIOR COURT.

Judge Rountree Will Preside Over Term This Week.

The regular one week November term of Superior Court will convene tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, Judge George Rountree, of this city, will preside, and Solicitor Homer L. Lyon, of Whiteville, will look after the interests of the State. Solicitor Lyon will arrive here this afternoon and will have his docket in shape for the opening of court tomorrow morning. There are 75 cases on the docket for the attention of the court. They are of only ordinary interest.

—A building permit was issued yesterday to G. C. Simmons for the erection of a five-room residence at No. 616 South Fifth street, the estimated cost being $600.

PHILADELPHIANS ARE COMING

Wilmington Included in Itinerary for Fifth Trade Expansion Excursion—75 Business Men in the Party.

Wilmington business men will be delighted to learn that the Philadelphia Trade Expansion Excursion Committee has decided to include this city in its itinerary for the fifth annual trade expansion excursion, which leaves Philadelphia on November 17th. The party, consisting of 75 prominent business men of Philadelphia, will reach Wilmington at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of November 18th and will be here until 11 o'clock that night.

Mayor Moore yesterday received a letter from the committee announcing that Wilmington would be included in the itinerary, and with the assistance of the local commercial bodies he will arrange for a public meeting to welcome the prominent visitors. The visit of the Philadelphians should mean much to Wilmington as well as to Philadelphia in the way of establishing new and closer trade relations. The private train, consisting of Pullman dining cars, sleeping cars and a combination club smoker, will leave Philadelphia Monday evening, November 17th, at 6:15 o'clock. The first stop will be Washington, N. C., arriving there at 6:30 Tuesday morning, November 18th, and leaving at 10 o'clock for Newbern. The party will be in Newbern from 11:30 A. M. to 1:30 P. M., arriving in Wilmington at 5 P. M. and remaining until 11 P. M., when they will leave for points in South Carolina, stopping at Sumter, Columbia, thence into Georgia, Tennessee and Virginia, winding up at Roanoke, Va., on the 22nd.

The following is the letter received by Mayor Moore:

"Philadelphia, Nov. 5th, 1913.

"The Honorable, the Mayor, Wilmington, N. C.

'Dear Sir: The Fifth Philadelphia Trade Expansion Excursion will be run under the auspices of the General Philadelphia Trade Expansion Excursion Committee, November 17th to 22nd, inclusive, and will tour parts of the Southern States.

"We will arrive in your city and depart as per copy of itinerary enclosed herewith. The party, consisting of about 75 leading bankers, manufacturers, merchants, and influential business men of Philadelphia, will travel by special train of Pullman sleepers and dining cars.

"We regret that time will not permit us to stop longer in your city, and as the chief desire of the members of our party is to make the acquaintance of your principal business men, we do not wish to put you to trouble or expense, and no elaborate entertainment is expected.

"If you can arrange a general meeting in some public place that would be all that is necessary or desired. We could be greeted by the Mayor of your city, or some leading citizen in a brief address. This would be responded to by some member of our party and the official representative of Mayor Rudolph Blankenburg, of Philadelphia. The balance of the time is expected to be spent in making the acquaintance of your business people and in visiting their places of business.

"Will you kindly advise us what your arrangements will be.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Haywood McKoy, Colored, Sent to Roads for Three Months.

A few days ago Clara Jackson, colored, swore out a warrant at the police station charging Haywood McKoy, colored, with assaulting her with an iron bar. The police, however, failed to locate him, and later she repented of what she had done and went to the police station early yesterday morning to have the warrant canceled. She was informed that the matter would have to be taken up in the Recorder's court.

Believing that the matter could be settled amicably she went back and told Haywood that if he would appear in court that the charge would be removed. When he was put on the stand he told several stories about how the matter occurred, and the Recorder decided that in view of the circumstances which had developed that he ought to go to the roads for three months. McKoy appealed to Superior Court, and his bond was fixed at $200 which he gave.

J. W. Moore, white, was charged with gambling. The principal witness against him was E. G. Sarborough, who testified that Moore and another person engaged in a game of "crap." Scarborough, it was stated, backed the other party to the extent of the amount of money that he had at the time, and lost every cent. Judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs. There is said to be a great deal of gambling going on in the city now—more than for several years.

MARRIAGE OF INTEREST AT KENANSVILLE, N. C.

Kenansville, N. C., Nov. 8.—A home marriage of unusual interest was solemnized here Wednesday afternoon when the handsome and attractive Miss Effie Johnson was given in marriage to Mr. Wm. B. Murray, a well known business man of this place. The parlors were beautifully decorated with smilax and white chrysanthemums. An altar was erected in the front parlor with an arch in front from which was suspended a large white wedding bell. Promptly at 3 o'clock Rev. T. J. Lee, of the M. E. church, took his stand before the altar and the bridal pair entered the room to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, skilfully rendered by Miss Lucy Southerland. The Titian beauty of the bride was enhanced by a handsome gown of white crepe de chine with pearl trimmings. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and maiden hair ferns. After the ceremony delightful refreshments carrying out the color scheme of green and white, was served by Misses Lula Hinson, Pattie Southerland and Eula Powell. Amid a shower of good wishes the happy pair left on the 8 o'clock train for Washington and other points of interest. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Johnson, well known in social and educational circles. The groom is a man of sterling worth, closely identified with the business interests of the county.

HOUSEWIVES' LEAGUE WILL MEET TOMORROW.

The first regular meeting of the Housewives' League will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the parlors of the Elks' Temple. Plans for the future work of the organization will be discussed at that time. Interest in the organization is growing rapidly and it confidently expected that at this meeting there will be a substantial addition to the already large membership. Practically all the principal purveyors of foodstuffs in the city have signified their intention of co-operating with the Housewives' League in their efforts to secure better food protection and handling. The first activity of the Housewives' League will probably be to familiarize every member of the organization with the provisions of the food law now in force in this city so that its members can intelligently insist on its strict observance. It is expected that this organization will insist first that food merchants in town obtain a copy of the food laws and become thoroughly acquainted with the provisions. There is already under way an active effort to secure the completion of the improvements begun at the Front street market and it is probable that the condition of the other city markets will receive the undivided attention of the ladies until they in every respect conform to the law. The ladies feel that they cannot consistently urge the merchants of the city to make necessary changes so long as the city continues to permit violations of the law in the markets it controls.

It is expected at this meeting the housewives will appoint a committee to go thoroughly into the local milk situation. The committee will investigate the cost of feed and labor, etc., in fact, going into every detail of the question, so as not to do anybody an injustice in the report that will be submitted.

MR. LEROY EDWARDS CLAIMS BRIDE IN THOMASVILLE, GA.

Thomasville, Ga., Nov. 8.—At high noon on Wednesday, the 5th, Mr. and Mrs. James Gould Patterson, of Thomasville, Ga., gave in marriage their daughter, Lelia, to Mr. Leroy Bond Edwards, of Wilmington, N. C. The spacious lower rooms and hall were artistically decorated in the color scheme of pink and green, while ferns, palms and pink roses formed the background for the marriage altar. The natural bamboo and Southern smilax gracefully adorned the chandeliers and lace draperies over the windows, while the broad pink satin ribbons caught in the soft shaded pink, electric lights, and festooned among the vines and asparagus ferns formed a fairy bower for the happy couple.

The guests were received by the bride's sisters, Mesdames Eugene Fleming and Thomas Patterson. The bride, preceded by her sister, Miss Alice Patterson, who was lovely in a gown of pink charmeuse with pink fur trimmings and carried a bouquet of pink carnations, entered from the central door with her father, while the groom and his groomsman, Mr. C. L. Walker, of Wilmington, entered from the side hall door, and met the bride at the altar, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The impressive Presbyterian ring service was performed by Rev. Mr. McLoughlin, of Camilla, Ga., while Miss Covington softly played "Melody of Love." The bride wore a traveling gown of navy blue brocaded broadcloth, with hat and blue beaver and ostrich plume, which enhanced her stately beauty.

A delicious buffet luncheon was served immediately after the ceremony. The color scheme was carried out in the cakes and ices, and in the decorations of the Bridesmaid roses and asparagus ferns.

The bride has been a resident of Thomasville for the past 12 years and by her charm of manner and many accomplishments has won for herself the esteem and admiration of a host of friends. Mr. Edwards is a popular member of the business and social world of Wilmington, holding a position with the American National Bank.

The popular young couple were the recipients of many lovely and useful presents, among them a beautiful and varied collection of cut glass and silver.

Among the out-of-town guests were Misses Sallie Lee Smith, of Elkton, N. C.; Nina Roberts, of Mullins, S. C.; Sallie Louise Durant, of Valdosta, and her mother, Mrs. W. J. Durant, also Messrs. C. L. Walker, Wilmington, N. C., and Noah Jenrette, Mullins, S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards left at 2 o'clock in the afternoon for an extended tour and on their return will make their home in Wilmington.

REPORT OF WORK OF LINEN AUXILIARY FOR PAST YEAR.

At the regular meeting of the Linen Auxiliary of James Walker Memorial Hospital held in the directors' room of the Wilmington Savings & Trust Company Friday morning at 11 o'clock Mrs. H. C. Bear, the president, during the past year, read her annual report of the work done by this organization. The Auxiliary has been actively engaged in carrying out the purpose for which it was organized, and many will be interested in the report which follows:

"To the Members of Linen Auxiliary:

"Another year has rolled around since the honor was conferred upon me to act as head of this organization. I use with meaning the word 'honor' for though knowing the importance of our work, it is not always brought home to us, as with me a few days since when I was told by a patient just returned from a newly-established sanitarium in Richmond, Va.: 'The doctors here said to me that the supplying of linen to a hospital is one of the greatest drains, and at the same time one of the greatest necessities to any such institution.'

"Now, thanks to a well-ordered arrangement, James Walker Memorial Hospital has, probably for the first time in its existence and certainly for the first time in the existence of the Linen Auxiliary, a small surplus of some linens. This does not mean that we have given much more during the past year as the comparison stands $313.77, against $312.44 for 1912. We have, however, better cared for our supply and with more system. This should encourage us for our work for the future, and work we must to keep up a necessary record of over $300 a year.

"In this regard, I wish to thank my officers and committees of the past year for their able assistance and strenuous efforts, and in particular do I wish to make ackonwledgement to two non-members, Misses Hazel Einstein and Helen Schultz, who so generously gave their time and ability to assisting the chairman of our Grand Theatre benefit performance committee in bringing the undertaking to a successful finish. At the same time, I take again the opportunity to thank Mr. Solky for the use of his playhouse which meant an addition of $83.35 to our yearly income.

"Our membership has increased from 114 to 164 which, though highly satisfactory, does not at $1 a year per member, come anywhere near satisfying our ambition, nor cover the outlay necessary to the needs of our hospital. It is to be hoped that a membership list of 250 to 300 can be worked up in the coming year. To this I would ask for the incoming officers and for the good of the society, the assistance of each member in adding to this list, so that without tax or effort we can meet our self-assumed obligations.

"With best wishes for the future and with thanks to all for the co-operation which made this year a success."

Following the reading of the report of the president, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Thos. E. Cooper; vice president, Mrs. Sol Sternberger; secretary, Mrs. Will Rehder; treasurer, Mrs. M. M. Caldwell.

During the year of 1913 to date, the Auxiliary has given to the hospital the following: 208 yards of sheeting, 120 towels, 72 pillow cases, 107 1-2 yards curtain swiss, 240 sheets, 118 spreads, 120 napkins. The total amount expended was $313.77.

While the membership has increased greatly since its organization it is not so large as the members desire, and anyone interested in the good cause and wishes to assist in increasing its usefulness to the hospital is asked to apply to Mrs. Will Rehder, the secretary, for information as to the requirements for membership.

WONDERS NEVER CEASE.

Two Wilmington Men Happen to Strange Misfortunes.

A prominent Wilmington man has been reading advertisements of Big Ben alarm clocks for some time, and having considerable difficulty in waking up at the proper time these crisp November morning he bought one of the things last week and carried it home. He bragged to his wife of how he would now be able to wake up in time to get to his place of business by 9:30 o'clock instead of 10 or 11 o'clock as had been his habit.

Setting it to go off at an hour in the morning when most respectable people are supposed to have slept enough he went to bed with serene confidence, knowing that now he would have no trouble whatever in keeping appointments with his business acquaintances. So confident was he that he evidently went to sleep with his mouth wide open for when the alarm began to rattle with a tremendous racket the next morning snap went his mouth together breaking his best-looking and handsomest incisor smack off almost even with the gum.

This was enough for him and he took the clock back to the dealer and informed him that he could afford to sleep late in the morning easier than he could to lose all the teeth that he had. He has had enough of alarm clocks and declares that he will never again allow one of the things to go into his home. And his wife—well she says that she doesn't want her husband looking like a 70-year-old, and that she firmly approves of his determination.

While this was indeed a strange misfortune a Wilmington angler happened to worst luck the past week. He has been thinking of fishing by day and dreaming of catching 70-pounders at night. In the "wee sma'" hours the other night when everything was so quiet that the faintest whisper could be heard he was sleeping and dreaming of being out on the broad Atlantic in a fishing smack. Then he thought that one of his companions was overboard and was crying for help. With a mighty plunge the dreaming sleeper went over the foot of the bed to rescue his perishing companion. With tremendous force he hit the floor, breaking his nose. This woke him—speedily.

It was necessary for him to call his physician to set the bone and now he is walking about the city a sadder and wiser man. He declares that never again will be go fishing nor does he expect so long as he lives to even think about the ocean waves and the fond tug o fa handsome fish that has fond tug of a handsome fish that has he says, and if his nose ever recovers its normal shape again he will be grateful, but if it does not he will devote the remainder of his recreation moments in this life to warning enthusiastic anglers of what sad misfortune may befall them.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 8.—For the fist time in six years the Yale cross country team defeated the Harvard team here today 25 points to 35. Capt. Boyd, of Harvard, finished first in the fast time of 40 minutes 7 2-5 seconds for the six mile course.

EUREKA DYE WORKS.

A business that continues to increase in volume month by month is a proof of satisfactory work and service.

Such is the Eureka Dye Works, which wishes to announce that it has secured the services of Mr. Young, of Cleveland, Ohio, who has had wide experience in all branches of cleaning and dyeing. The Eureka is thus better prepared than ever to handle all work in its line and guarantees satisfaction.

It should mean a good deal to the people of this community to be able to have their cleaning and dyeing done at home, according to the best known methods, safely, promptly and at less expense than when sent to the Northern cleaners who, while more widely known, use the same class of machinery, the same formulas and materials as used by the Eureka.

Mr. Myers, the manager, attends each year the convention of the National Association of Cleaners and Dyers of the United States and Canada, thus deriving the benefit of experiences of all members of this association.

If you have not given your work to them you will not regret a trial order. The handsome new auto delivery wagon of the Eureka Dye Works will call at your house promptly upon receipt of your order. Phone 1400.

The literary societies were in session at the time and everything on the campus was quiet. The fire department and bucket brigade of the students did effective work. COTTON OFF FORTY POINTS

Larger Official Ginning Figures Than Expected Were Followed by a Sensational Break—Close Weak at Lowest Point.

New York, Nov. 8.—Larger official ginning figures than expected were followed by a sensational break in the cotton market this morning with January contracts selling off to 12.93 or 40 points under the closing figures of last night, and $4.60 per bale below the high records of the season established toward the end of last month.

The close was weak at the lowest point reached on the decline and from 35 to 40 points under the final figures of Friday. There was an active selling movement at the start and first prices were 15 to 18 points lower, with active months selling 17 to 20 points under the closing figures of last night, during the first few minutes. Weakness in Liverpool as well as the ginning figures seemed responsible for the pressure against the market, but the early offerings were pretty well taken, and at the first flurry of liquidation, prices rallied 10 or 11 points from the lowest on trade buying and covering for over the week-end. There was no great volume of demand on the advance, however, and late in the morning there was a sudden renewal of general selling pressure under which prices crumbled rapidly away with the decline only checked by the closing of the market, when offerings still seemed to be aggrescie. Much of the late selling seemed to come from Southern and Wall Street sources, and created an impression around the ring that the ginning figures had increased confidence in the larger estimates of the crop. The amount of cotton ginned to November 1st, 8,835,913 bales, was smaller than either of the two preceding years, but the figures were larger than indicated by recent private reports and taken in connection with the recent large estimate yield seemed to unsettle the views of many recent buyers.

Spot quiet; middling uplands 13.70; gulf 13.95. Sales 53 bales.

Cotton futures closed weak.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REPORT.

Several Things Combine in Shaping Unfavorable Conclusions.

New York, Nov. 8.—Financial, political and industrial consideration all had a share in shaping the unfavorable conclusions which made the stock market halting and irregular this week. The industrial factor was perhaps of most influence. Chief emphasis was laid on the situation in the steel trade but Copper trade developments made an important supplement.

The decline in the prices of refined Copper was taken as corroborative of the sluggish industrial demand.

Differences in the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, over the currency bill, were matched by confusion among banking authorities themselves over the probable effects of the measure.

The prospects of delay and uncertainty threatened an additional complication in the business outlook. The attorney general's plea in the International Harvester suit and particularly the terms demanded for a dissolution of that combination, caused some disquiet to shareholders in other corporations. The inquiry ordered into the Louisville & Nashville combination helped to sharpen this disquiet.

The mystery made of the diplomatic moves in the Mexican negotiations was an unsettling influence through the week, in both home and foreign markets.

Immediate money market conditions improved in spite of the reserved revealed by the previous week's New York rates prompted relaxed with the passing of the November 1st requirements.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, Nov. 8.—Cotton goods markets ruled steady and quiet today. Yarns were barely steady. Dividends of Fall River cotton mills for the fiscal quarter show an average of 3.61 per cent on a capitalization of $29,000,000, largely due to extra dividends declared by three corporations. Jobbers are doing a steady trade for the period of the year.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

New York, Nov. 8.—Money on call nominal, no loans. Time loans firm; sixty and ninety days 5 to 5 1-4, six months 4 3-4 to 5. Prime mercantile paper 5 1-2 to 6 per cent. Sterling exchange steady 4.8040 for sixty days, 4.8480 for demand. Commercial bills 4.97 3-4. Bar silver 59 1-2. Mexican dollars 46.

DECLINE IN STOCK MARKET

Fitting Sequel to the Heavy and Dull Conditions of the Preceding Days of the Week—Apprehension Concerning Mexico.

New York, Nov. 8.—The weakness of today's session in the stock market was a fitting sequel to the heavy and dull conditions of the preceding days of the week, augmented, as it seemed, by renewed apprehension concerning the Mexican situation and uncertainty regarding the outcome of pending currency legislation.

The local market manifested some steadiness at the opening despite the irregular range of our securities abroad but weakness in New Haven and American Telephone and Telegraph, both of which fell to low record prices, soon had its effect elsewhere. The movement comprehended a number of obscure specialties in the industrial division and later spread to the metal and railway shares, many of which yielded to lowest prices for many months while others established lowest quotations in their history.

The decline derived no small part of its impetus from short selling, the bears evidently availing themselves of the opportunity to extend their commitments.

There was little real support and final prices were near the lowest level of the day.

News bearing more or less directly on the securities market was meagre and conflicting. The mercantile agencies continued to report trade recessions and rumors of additional gold imports were in circulation.

Last week's nominal deficit in the actual reserves of the banks was reversed to an increase of $10,000 with a loan contraction of over $33,000,000 and a cash gain approximating $4,000,000.

The bond market was inclined to sag. Total sales par value $850,000. United States government bonds unchanged on call during the week. Total stock sales 127,500 shares including American Tobacco 200; Lehigh Valley, 500; L. & N., 100; Norfolk & Western, 100; Southern Railway, 900; U. S. Steel, 20,300.

suits than if you pay less. If you can afford $25 for a suit you'll be better satisfied than if you pay $18 or $20. It's logical that a maker who wants to put all the value possible into his goods can put in more for $25 than he can for $18 or $20.

If $18 or $20 is all you can afford, don't be ashamed of it; you'll get a suit you needn't be ashamed of, if you buy here.

INTERVENTION IN MEXICO.

Our Duty in the Crisis Pending in That Country.

(Wall Street Journal.)

If the week's advices from Washington and the utterances credited to the government's special agent at Vera Cruz can be relied on, the Mexican situation is on the verge of a crisis. If so, it is a crisis largely of our own making. And the time has arrived when the country at large may fairly claim that knowledge should take the place of rumor, in order that public opinion may be formed intelligently.

Take first the suggestion that this country demands that Huerta resign. No such demand should be made unless it is to be enforced. But if it be complied with, what assurance is there that his successor will be better, or do better, than he? Suppose this country were to insist on another so-called idealist like Madero. Would disorder in Mexico be ended, or would permanent peace even be hastened?

But if the demand for Huerta's resignation be refused, will this country resort to armed intervention? Has it any right to intervene in justice to the lives of its own soldiers and volunteers, regardless of any consideration of the rights of Mexico?

Conditions in Mexico are unsettled. They were unsettled in this country during the Revolution and during the four years' Civil War. American capitalists have suffered heavy losses; so did foreign capital in this country in the '60's. But Mexican business is by no means paralyzed. And, what is more to the point, this country has not been put to any expense, to patrol its borders against shipment of contraband as had long been the case before intervention in Cuba.

What, then, is the ground for intervention? Is it that we do not like Huerta? Is it because we believe he murdered Madero, or that he has violated the Mexican constitution? Or is it because of the reported atrocities upon individuals, and especially upon women, which have been a feature of the disorders?

To intervene on the first ground is a proposition too ridiculous to discuss. As to the second, a policy of non-recognition is the farthest that this country is required, or morally permitted, to go. This leaves only the third. Every real man must abhor the cruelties committed during the insurrection. But it is fair to question how far these are spasmodic and the acts of irresponsible brigands, and how far they may be laid at the door of the Huerta government. Moreover, are they more numerous or more brutal than those that would accompany armed intervention Above all, have they become so general and so flagrant that intervention in the name of humanity is demanded or clearly justified?

When this country intervened in Cuba it was only after years of forbearance and protest against the disorder and atrocities that had prevailed there. The conditions on that island had been the subject of diplomatic correspondence for 40 years. More than once Spain had been warned that the burden imposed on this country had become almost intolerable. And while intervention was based on the broadest grounds of humanity and preservation of our own National tranquility, it may well be doubted whether it would have come for another decade had it not been for the destruction of the Maine in Havana harbor.

No such conditions obtain today in the Mexican crisis. Instead of popular clamor for war, there is a strong sentiment against it. Indeed, the absence of excitement shows that as a whole the country does not consider armed intervention a near possibility. Except for a small minority of the American press, the demand for intervention comes largely from German newspapers, whose self-interest is too obvious to require explanation. Will the administration permit itself to be made a catspaw to pull foreign chestnuts out of the Mexican fire?

There is a more ominous phase of the situation. The party in power has traditionally cast covetous eyes upon territory south of the Rio Grande. President Wilson has declared that there will be no war of conquest. There is a sacred obligation upon him to maintain faith with the American people on this issue.

SELLING OF GUNPOWDER.

Dealers Must Have Permits and Show Signs Advertising Sale.

Fire Chief Schnibben stated yesterday that he has been busy for the last few days making an investigation regarding the selling of gunpowder and other explosives in Wilmington. He finds that only a few dealers handle powder as there is little demand for it. In fact, some who have been selling it have decided that as soon as they dispose of their present supply they will stop selling it altogether. Practically all hunters now use shells and have no occasion to use powder.

The city ordinances provide that the merchants who sell gunpowder and other explosives shall get a written permit from the chief of the fire department. There is no charge for this and it is purely a precautionary measure in order that the fire chief may see that the proper provisions are made for safety. Every retail dealer is required to have conspicuously displayed in the front window or on the door of his place of business a sign with the inscription. "Powder for sale."

No dealer in the city of Wilmington on the east side of the Cape Fear river is allowed to carry in stock more than 50 pounds of powder, and if any part of the building is used as a dwelling or for sleeping apartments no firm or person shall carry more than five pounds in stock. All powder is required to be kept in metal or tin canisters or in stone jars with closely-fitting lids.

HIGHER EDUCATION.

Will be Subject of Address Monday Night by Mr. Stacy.

As the season advances the interest in all departments of the Boys' Brigade increases. Tomorrow night the regular weekly meeting of Companies A and B will be held at the armory with Col. Walker Taylor present.

The Bible Class taught by Rev. J. M. Wells, will hold its regular session beginning at 8:10. Interest in the study of the Bible is keen at the Brigade. Last week two classes were conducted with a total attendance of nearly 100 and this is now the weekly attendance at the Brigade Bible classes. These classes are not confined to the members of the Brigade, but are open to any young man or boy who wishes to be present. Following the Bible Class there will be an educational session. This will consist of an address by W. P. Stacy, Esq., who will speak upon the importance of the higher education. As the Brigade has several of its older members now in attendance at the various colleges of the State and as several more are now contemplating entering college or higher preparatory school next year, this will be a very timely subject. This also is open to any young man or boy in the city.

to rush fresh food supplies to the ships.

Many Rebels Killed.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 8.—Twelve hundred rebels were trapped by General Jose Inez Salabzar's command of 700 Federal volunteers this afternoon and were almost annihilated by the Federals, according to official messages received tonight in Juarez.

The rebels were hurrying to Chihuahua to reinforce General Pancho Villa, who had been assaulting Chihuahua. The message stated that Salazar lost a large number of his men during the fight. The rebels retreated to the east of the canon.

Salazar has been in the Santa Clara canyon for several days awaiting the approach of the rebel forces which enforced it at El Valle, its western extremity.

Huerta Will Not Comply.

Mexico City, Nov. 8.—Gen. Huerta has shown no indication that he will comply with the American demands for his resignation. On the contrary, those who profess to have his confidence say his programme includes the continued occupancy of the presidency until some time late in the year 1914, and that he intends to carry out his plan of organizing the new Congress and defying Washington even to the point of war.

It is not forgotten, however, that the unexpected in Mexican politics is never surprising, and as evidence of this fact every hour brings a new rumor regarding Huerta. One persistent report was that he had turned the government over to the foreign minister, Senor Mohenó, and had gone to Vera Cruz. Another was that he had committed suicide. That Huerta has begun to break with certain members of his latest cabinet is indicated by the reported resignation of Gen. Blanquet, the minister of war.

There is some basis for believing the United States has served on President Huerta supplementary notice that his official career must be brought to an end by Monday night. It was reported today that John Lind, President Wilson's representative, was the medium employed by Washington. Mr. Lind and the Mexican officials deny this, but the rumor originated in the National palace.

Financial Weaknesses.

Those who insist that Gen. Huerta will resist al overtures say he admits financial weaknesses, but is convinced that from time to time he can get enough money to keep up a dogged if intermittent campaign against the rebels. According to these informants, Gen. Huerta does not expect to bring about pacification for many months, but until it is accomplished, he will not resign. They add that he is still determined that the new Congress must meet, and he expects it to annul the recent elections, leaving him in the provisional Presidency until elections are he'd at his call.

That the new Mexican Congress must not meet is a point insisted upon by the United States, since it is believed that one of the first acts of that body would be to legalize certain concessions that are not considered desirable.

Mr. Lind and the British minister, Sir Lionel Carden, conferred again today. It was learned that their ideas regarding a solution of the situation are still far apart.

It was learned in authoritative circles here today that Huerta has secured sufficient British capital to operate the Mexican government at least until the end of the present month.

The funds are said to have been secured through the efforts of Lord Cowdray, head of the Pearson syndicate.

The financial situation here changed slightly for the better today. Some banks are putting out silver.

CAROLINA BAPTISTS CLOSING THE YEAR

But Few Weeks Until Great State Convention at Shelby.

SOME NOTABLE FIGURES

Prominent Members of Denomination Now and in the Long Ago—Arrangements for Entertainment and Notes.

(By T. W. Chambliss.)

Four weeks more and the more than a quarter of million white Baptist of North Carolina will have their eyes fixed on the town of Shelby in Cleveland county. These four weeks are weeks of keenest anxiety, the last days always are, for the reason that the work is to be rounded up, the last of the offerings for the expenses of the development work within the border of the State must be gotten into the treasury. Missionaries are to be paid, reports are to be gathered together and when the last day of November comes, it will mean the closing of the fiscal year in the Baptist denominational activity in North Carolina.

There is entirely too much cause for anxiety—methods should be adopted whereby the strain during this last month should be lessened but somehow these methods have not come into general use and each brings with it the worry of a possible debt on the Board of State Missions. Then with the closing day comes the cheering message of "victory" and the hundreds of thousands of North Carolina Baptists have met the need.

For the 83rd time the Baptist denomination of the Old North State will hold its annual convention. It is to be held in Shelby with the First Baptist church, of which Rev. L. O. Swope is the pastor. Following this wise and good pastor, competent committees have been busy for weeks making ready to house and keep the hundreds of messengers who will gather to discuss the work of the past year and consider plans for bigger things next year. Thirty-eight years ago the convention met in Shelby, in 1875. Not many of those who attended that convention will be present this time, but here and there will be found a face, familiar through the passing years. Dr. J. D. Hufham, the "war horse of the denomination", was the recording secretary when the convention met in Shelby in 1875. Mr. John E. Ray, of Raleigh, was the corresponding secretary. Mr. Ray is now at the head of the State School for the Blind in Raleigh. Unless there is providential hindrance these two men will be in the coming convention.

Here in North Carolina the Baptist denomination has almost 250,000 members of the white churches and fully as many more people might be termed as "baptistically inclined." These, together with thousands of other Christian people will watch for the record of the work accomplished and will take keen interest in the plans promulgated for another year. Only a few of the people, speaking comparatively, can attend the convention. Those who go, coming from the far east and the extreme west meeting with those from the sections in between, will be messengers representing the churches and district associations, and they will have no authority, for Baptist church are individual and are supreme in all matters of conduct, but the messengers will discuss the success of the past and plan together for the future.

The convention is practically composed of men alone, but there has been provision made for the presence of messengers representing the Women's missionary societies of the State. These women come to the convention to represent their department, a work which has grown very largely through recent years, and which promises bright and glorious advancement in the future.

The convention will be called to order by Rev. C. H. Durham, the president, Tuesday night, December 9th, and in the secretary's chair will be the veteran of 30 years of service, Mr. N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh. There is hardly a question of the re-election of Mr. Broughton—for service his 31st year. As a secretary he is superb. Assisting him will be Dr. C. E. Brewer, of Wake Forest College—This will be the sixth time for the election of Dr. Brewer. President Durham has served two years and unless the convention shall disregard the precedent established in 1887 another will be chosen to take the chair of the president. Only one man has served the convention longer than two years since 1885—Rev. R. H. Marsh, chosen as president in 1891 and re-elected each year for 13 consecutive years.

The treasurer of the convention is Mr. Walter Durham, of Raleigh, who was elected first in 1900 and re-elected each year since that time. He will be re-elected.

One of the most important officers of the convention, if not the most important, is the corresponding secretary. In 1900 Rev. Livingston Johnson was chosen to this position, succeeding Rev. Dr. John E. White, now in Atlanta, Ga., and each succeeding year the convention has re-elected Mr. Johnson. He is recognized today as one of the best corresponding secretaries of the South. His duties require an oversight of the gathering of funds for the State, Home and Foreign Missions and in addition has charge of the work of the State missions.

Ten years since the organization of the Baptist State organization in North Carolina have been marked years. The many and varied spheres of activity have received the serious attention of the Baptists of the State. The denomination has grown until it stands at the head of all other religious bodies in the State. Its membership denotes tremendous power and great possibilities. Without the exact figures, for the reports will be made only, when the convention meets, the Baptist denomination has more than 2,000 churches, gathered in 61 district associations, and nearly 250,000 members. The denomination has church property valued at $3,500,000 and is expending something like $5,000,000 a year for religious work. The offerings of the churches for missions and orphanage work will aggregate $175,000 a year. The denomination controls and operates three colleges and 20 secondary schools with property worth $1,500,000. In these educational institutions there are annually 4,000 pupils. In addition to this work the Baptists of North Carolina have nearly 2,000 Sunday Schools as a part of the church work. In these schools there are 180,000 pupils and the reports from every section of the State come the information that the Sunday School work is steadily growing both in enrollment and in efficiency. More than 2,000 of the Sunday School teachers in Baptist Sunday Schools hold diplomas from the department of teacher training.

Going back to the primary work of the churches the Baptists of this State are showing good work and are reporting about 15,000 baptisms a year.

In addition to what has been said in this article it should be remembered that the negro Baptists of North Carolina number several hundred thousand and the statistics given here refer to the White Baptists alone.

Problem of Internationalizing Weights —Topics in Paris—Sir John Simon Reaches Cabinet Rank in London.

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, Nov. 8.—The problem of internationalizing weights and measures was discussed at the fifth General Conference of the Metric System, which has just finished its sittings in Paris. Since the last conference four years ago some dozen important countries have adopted the compulsory use of the metric system. Among these are Denmark, China, Japan, the five republics of Central America, Bulgaria, Chili, Uruguay and Siam. Other countries seem inclined to follow, and in the opinion of M. C. E. Guillaume, of the directorship of the French Bureau of Weights and Measures, "there is no doubt that the universal adoption of the metric system in its entirety is only a question of years."

Modern industrial methods have completely revolutionized the work of the Metric conference. Whereas formerly it was chiefly concerned with the length unit, it has now widened its scope to include all the measures used in the science and industry resulting from the discovery and application of electricty, wireless telegraphy and the general use in industry of delicate scientific processes of all descriptions.

Samuel W. Stratton, Director of the National Bureau of Standards at Washington and members of the International Committee of the Metric Conference, said: "The importance of the work of the conference lies not so much in the system of measurements adopted, but in the general agreement on what is meant by any given measurement. Unless this agreement is arrived at it is impossible to reproduce, internationally or nationally, processes which have been once established. For instance, however accurately a given length unit is cut, it will vary with the temperature, and it is of supreme importance in reproducing a delicate process, to know whether the given, length unit is to be used at zero degrees or at the ordinary working temperature.

"It is also imperative that an agreement be reached as to exactly what is meant by a heat measurement as applied to different metals and other substances.

"A third important work undertaken by the International Bureau is the establishment of gauges for measuring heat and cold far above the ordinary temperatures, necessitated by the use of electricity and liquid air. It is of great importance to be able to measure as far as 170 degrees below and some 2,000 degrees above zero, and these measurements doubtless soon will have to be greatly increased. One American electrical firm has already asked me to establish an accurate means of measuring heat up to 3,500 degrees.

Can flowers feel pain? This is a question to which French physiologists are giving much attention at the present time.

M. L. Chassaigne believes that they can and do. His opinion is based on interesting experiments. Taking a mimosa plant, he exposed it to the action of heat. The leaves writhed as if in pain. A simple mechanical effect, say the skeptics; a proof of sensibility, says M. Chassaigne, since it does not take place if the mimosa be anesthetized. If the vase containing the mimosa is placed in a glass globe with a piece of cotton impregnated with choroform or any other volatile anesthetic for half an hour, the foliage becomes wilted and the plant has all the appearances of being in a deep sleep. If it be now subjected to the action of heat it remains unaffected. The plant no longer suffers.

M. Chassaigne has repeated the same experiment with many different kinds of plants but always with the same result. "It is maintained," he says, "that plants do not suffer pain because they have no nerves. But modern physiologists are beginning to ask what exactly are nerves. Many of them hold that nerves are but the extension of protoplasm, modified and adopted to fulfill the required function. Hence the protoplasm of plants can perfectly well act as a rudimentary nervous system, and I am continuing my experiments with the object of establishing this beyond doubt."

President Poincare, returning from Spain, visited Henri Fabre at Serignan. The aged naturalist sat in his garden. The President, standing, called him beloved and great master, and said:

"You have given so passionate attention to the study of the humblest creatures that in the smallest things you have shown us very great ones, and at every page of your work we feel a sensation of looking into the infinite."

Fabre was so moved that he could not reply. His nephew thanked the President for him.

M. Poincare also visited Frederic Mistral, the famous poet of Provence, living at the village of Maillane. The poet read an address to the President, who in replying quoted Lamartine, who fifty years ago acclaimed Mistrial as another Homer. Both Mistral and his wife wept, and when the President finished, Mistral threw himself into M. Poincare's arms and embraced him.

M. Clementel the French Minister of Agriculture, has decided to institute a monster agricultural competition lasting three years which is to determine the merits of the various French agricultural machines run by steam, oil or other engines.

The competition will take place at the Agricultural School at Gridnon and will be judged by a jury of agricultural experts from the French agricultural societies. A detailed report will be drawn up from the point of view of economy, as well as results which is likely to give impetus to the movement in favor of motor agriculture in France. The use of motor machines is especially marked in the neighborhood of Meaux and Soissons, where fourteen sections of the district are using motor machines on the co-operative system.

Sir John Sinion

London, Nov. 8.—The young bloods of the cabinet, Messrs. Winston Churchill and Lloyd George, will have to look to their laurels now that Sir John Simon has reached cabinet rank as Attorney-General.

Sir John is one year older than Winston Churchill, who is now thirty-pearance and spirits, and there is no man in the country who is looked to to go further than he is. He has one advantage over most of his fellow members of the cabinet in that he is popular both on his own side of the House and among his opponents, and never has a promotion been more generally approved than was his. In fact Sir John had the distinction, which has seldom fallen to a Liberal minister since Home Rule was first taken up by the party, of being approved by an Ulster newspaper.

The new attorney-general has had an astonishingly brilliant and rapid career of success and he is often spoken of as a possible successor to Mr. Asquith as leader of the Liberal party. He is a staunch radical, but preaches his doctrines in a way which while effective, does not offend his opponents. At Oxford, where he was a brilliant member of the Union, his chief opponent was F. E. Smith, the equally brilliant Unionist lawyer, and in the House of Commons they are always pitted against each other.

Unlike most great lawyers, he is as effective on the platform as at the bar, and, besides, has accomplished what many of them have failed to do—attained the "House of Commons manner," a quiet conversational way of speaking which holds the audience

AS TO RACE SEGREGATION

Open Letter From Wilmington Colored Pastor to Editor and President of Progressive Farmer of Raleigh.

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 6, 1913.

Mr. Clarence H. Poe, Editor of the Progressive Farmer:

Dear Sir: Will you stop for a few minutes to read a letter, from a humble member of the race, against which so much is being said just now in your paper? In writing this letter it is not my intention to say one thing that would in any way be offensive to you or to any persons who may think as you do on the subject above mentioned. Neither do I regard you as being an enemy of the negro, for I do not see how any Southern man could be; for he has been the ladder upon which all of your ancestors for more than 250 years have descended to wealth and prominence. I believe also that you are sincere and really believe that the thing that you are now advocating is right and is the solution of the problem, but I really believe that you are mistaken which is not a crime. Many of the negroes who are owning farms as well as many who are renting were here during the Civil War and protected the families of their owners while their masters were in the war fighting to perpetuate slavery. How these negroes deported themselves during their master's absence is too well known to be mentioned. There is a tie of friendship that still exists between them and their former owners that will never be broken. Now and then to the regret of every self-respected negro, we hear of some vicious member of the race committing some crime against some member of the white race, but should the whole race be condemned because of this fact? God forbid. I am not at all surprised when we hear the papers speak of the feasibility of segregating the two races who are living so close to each other in the cities and towns, and yet I question very much the wisdom of such a course of procedure. When these things are done they do not alone imbede the progress of the negro, but they retard the business progress of that town or city. For years the press has been complaining because the negroes were leaving the farms and crowding into the cities, leaving the land uncultivated, which to my mind, has had largely to do with the high

Every Day Is FEATURE DAY At The BIJOU

Announcement Extraordinary!

Tomorrow afternoon the popular Bijou will inaugurate a season of the most stupendous offerings that Wilmington photoplay lovers have ever had the opportunity of witnessing.

The Bijou management has contracted for the famous Warner Feature Pictures, which will hereafter be on the bill of fare three days a week. This feature has been secured by the Bijou exclusively in Wilmington at great expense, and will be offered to their patrons in addition to the regular all-star bill which Bijou patrons have got into the habit of expecting every day in the week.

The Warner Features released for this week are as follows:

MONDAY—"In the Power of a Hypnotist."

A tremendously strong dramatic production in three reels, featuring Miss Gene Gautier. Do you believe in hypnotism—that silent invisible force that moves one person to do the bidding of another? Whether you do or not, you want to see this powerful picture, in which Miss Gene Gauntier, Jack J. Clark and Sidney Olcott enact the leading roles.

WEDNESDAY — "Regeneration."

Another one of those greatest of the great Warner productions, in three reels. "Regeneration" tells a strong story and points a strong moral. The story depicts the love of two men for one girl, the pitfalls which the villain sets for the other fellow to belittle him in the girl's eyes, and, of course, the final ending in which they "Lived happy ever after." A strong production, which will enthrall everyone.

FRIDAY—"In the Clutches of the Ku Klux Klan."

"Warner Day" again. Miss Gene Gauntier is again featured in this mammoth and true to life story of the exciting times when the night riders ruled—that great but unknown organization of times just after the Civil War. This feature production should be witnessed by every school boy and girl, as well as the grown-ups, for its historical value.

THIS WEEK'S PROGRAMME:

MONDAY—"In the Power of a Hypnotist."
That mammoth Warner production, in three reels.

"The Scarf Pin"—
A strongly dramatic love story, which will hold the attention throughout.

TUESDAY—"The Test."
A Vitagraph production in two long reels. England and Africa provide the scenes for this stirring army story of two men and their love for the wife of one of the men. "The test" is a severe one, but the wife proves herself equal to the task, and the husband proves himself worth while, and wins back the love that was wavering.

"The Influence of the Unknown"—
A Biograph, presented by a notable cast.

WEDNESDAY—"Regeneration."
Another magnificent Warner production, in three reels.

"The Railroad Inspector's Daughter"—
A Kalem picture, showing some of the favorite Kalem players in the title roles; a pretty love story goes with it.

THURSDAY—"The Battle of Fort Laramie."
A stirring Kalem portrayal of frontier days, in two reels. How the death of the troopers at Fort Laramie is avenged makes a wonderfully exciting picture, showing action such as is rarely crowded into one picture.

"The Great Discovery"—
A Lubin headliner. The scientist, busy with his researches, neglects his wife, who finds companionship with a false friend.

FRIDAY—"In the Clutches of the Ku Klux Klan."
A three part Warner feature.

"A Successful Failure."
An Essanay photoplay, an exceptionally clever comedy.

SATURDAY — "Broncho Billy's Oath.
Rounding out the wek with an unusually interesting and exciting Western drama, with the world's most popular photoplayer, G. M. Anderson, or "Broncho Billy," in the title role.

"Which?"—
A strong Vitagraph production.

"The Widow's Suitors"—
A clever Edison comedy, furnishing a solid one thousand feet of fun.

THEATRICAL

The Academy this week makes two notable star offerings. One will be the very best in the dramatic line, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine", and the other the big musical comedy sensation, "The Girl of My Dreams".

The former will be presented at matinee and night to-morrow afternoon, and the latter will be seen Wednesday night of this week, seats going on sale at J. Hicks Bunting's drug-store to-morrow morning at 8:30 o'clock and indications point to a rush to secure choice seats.

Seats for "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine", which is a dramatization of the book by that name and in dramatic form is being presented by a superb company, seats went on sale at Bunting's yesterday morning for both performances. The prices for the matinee goes to $1.00 and for night to $1.50.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," with Isabelle Lowe in the role of June, which comes to the Academy tomorrow for matinee and night, shows the brilliant and popular dramatist, Eugene Walter, at his best. He has faithfully mirrored the delightful scenes of the book, and the scenic frame and stage setting arranged are gorgeous indeed.

June's great love for Jack Hale, the jealousy of her cousin Dave, the rough yet sincere affection of her father, Judd Tolliver, the humorous simplicity of Uncle Billy, and Ole Hun, the quiet strength of Hale, the feudal scenes, the guiding motif of the opposed sides and the picture of the mountaineer's household, are strikingly impressive by the mobility and breadth of their portrayal.

Neither pains nor artistic ability have been spared to give Mr. Walter's play a truly fine presentation, and it enjoyed long runs in Boston, Philadelphia and other cities to capacity business. You see what you imagined in the book, the story of romantic love developed in the heart of a primitive girl in the fastnesses of high encircling, purple mountains, the touch of lofty skies, with the lone pine bowing his part of the South American general brimming over with fighting jealousy. Irving Brooks was a 'high up' low comedian of no mean ability. To look at him was to laugh. Frank McEwen as Socrates Primmer made a great hit with his 'verse' that came on with or without provocation. The dancing of little Miss Repard was delightful. The 40 people or more who make up the company are a comely lot, full of youth and vivacity with a well-spring of entertainment at their command and ready to serve it up at a moment's notice.

"'The Girl of My Dreams' is as clean a show as one could wish for under any circumstances. It is the kind of show that comes back. If it will come back next fair week it ought to not only increase the fair attendance but wipe out forever the stigma that no longer hangs over the Academy management in connection with fair week attractions."

Swell Films at Grand.

With a galaxy of four swell films The Grand will start off its new week tomorrow in great manner. The quartette will be a selection of the rarest gems in the film line, and there will be plenty of merry music to add more charm to the occasion, while the price of admission will be kept at that very low figure, 5 cents. The films on tomorrow will be such as will tickle every fancy. They will be led by a great military play, in which Spaniards and Americans both play important parts, and with the scenes laid in Cuba. It is Edison's "The Family Honor" and in the cast will be seen such popular artists as Mabel Trunnelle, Charles Sutton, Richard Tucker, Chas. Ogle and William Chalfin.

Yet another star dramatic is on in Lubin's "The Two Cowards." In interesting, really exciting way it vividly draws the distinction between the moral and the physical coward. There is a pretty love theme running throughout the action of the film.

Pathe will offer a decidedly interesting photoplay tomorrow in "Oxygen." It is a great educational subject, handled in most entertaining way. There is also a swell travel film on in "Along the Padas River." It is decidedly instructive and at the same time will provide fine entertainment.

Scene from "The Trail of The Lonesome Pine."

in homage to the royal wind, and the mountain brook's silver gleam—June's mirror. The play will be presented by a New York cast. The production is a massive one.

Press Gives High Praise.

"The Girl of My Dreams" has been lavishly praised by the press of Virginia and North Carolina, as well as by the Metropolitan papers. From the Raleigh Evening Times comes the following:

"'The Girl of My Dreams' is a prize winner. Without a doubt it is the best fair week show Raleigh has ever seen in the Academy. If you are lucky enough to have a seat for tonight's performance, you will bring away with you a remedy for wrinkles and old age that will last all Winter. With a lilting, tilting, rollicking roll, 'The Girl of My Dreams' carries you along with its humor and song until you forget it's time to go home. For good singing, good dancing, good looking people—well, it is all the 'goods' without 'trying so hard to be good'. The big audience thoroughly enjoyed every minute of it. Some philanthropist might carve his memory in Raleigh for all times by compelling this fine company to remain the entire week and allowing every kiddie in town to see and hear the 'Dr. Tinkle Tinker' number, which of itself is worth the price of admission.

"The book of this real musical comedy is of more than ordinary merit. It concerns the love affairs of a young bachelor and his almost futile attempts to break off his many alliences before entering into connubial felicity. The jealous husband, the lovesick poet, the society cad, all enter into the plot in a pronounced fashion.

"The music has not the least semblance to 'ragtime,' and in fact is of a higher order than most of Karl Haschna's compositions. Countess Olga Von Haizfeldt (a really, really Countess) was in excellent voice and gave the proper air to her part of the demure and shy Quaker girl. Five encores followed her rendition of 'Dr. Tinkle Tinker', which with her 'baby talk' mimicry was exquisite. Roy Purviance as Harry Swifton, the backsliding bachelor, has a tenor voice of rich quality. His singing numbers as well as his spontaneous witticisms went over with a Chauncy Olicott dash. He was the sort of stage lover we like to see.

"To divide up fun-making honors is only fair, but to the fair Miss Edna Van Luke should be a few extra blue ribbons for her splendid work in a part that fits her almost as well as her pretty gowns. Do you know her? Ask anybody in New York. Her versatility seems to know no bounds. As Daphne Daffington, the sentimental milliner, she is a scream. She is a second edition of Emma Janvier with a goodly sprinkling of Elsie Janis thrown in. Francis Gaillard as Generalissimo Bombastino, the jealous husband, could not have improved

PENDER SUPERIOR COURT.

Adjourned for Term Thursday Afternoon—Cases Tried.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Burgaw, N. C., Nov. 8.—Superior Court adjourned for the term Thursday afternoon, the grand jury having finished its work, filed its report and been discharged by His Honor, Judge Rountree, who took occasion to compliment them on their work. There were a great many cases disposed of during the week, though none of any special importance. The case of Spencer Murphy for retailing, attracted the most attention, and the verdict was guilty in his case, the penalty imposed being a fine of $200 and costs. Spencer says he won't even drink any more cider or wine and doesn't want to see any.

A large number of cases were on the docket for failure to list taxes. Nearly all of these were disposed of, a large number being nol prossed on account of the fact that the parties had moved out of the county and were not liable. Future grand juries should look into this feature very carefully when indicting for this cause, as it entails considerable expense to the county for nothing.

The grand jury returned a true bill against Logan Bordeaux for murder, but the judge allowed him to go on bond of $100 for his appearance at the next term, as, from all circumstances of the case, the killing was a case of justifiable homicide.

Mr. W. D. Huhn has begun work on his dwelling on the west side of the railroad on Fremont street.——Mrs. D. A. Humphrey, of Tabor, after spending a few days with her father's family, returned to her home Thursday afternoon, her mother, Mrs. John T. Bland, returning with her.

Mr. J. C. Pretlow has severed his connection with the Smith mill and has returned to Point Caswell.——Judge D. H. Bland, of Goldsboro, was here the last day of court.——Mr. J. Ross McNeall expects to move into his new bungalow within a week or ten days. He will be quite conveniently fixed when he gets settled in his new home.

If anybody in Pender observed the Governor's proclamation regarding working the roads November 5th and 6th, it has not been reported at this writing. It is to be regretted that the people did not show more interest in this, as a great deal of work could have been done in two days.

price of living, for not enough has been made on the farms. Mr. Editor, when I read the reasons assigned by many of those who are in favor of and urging the segregation laws it does not seem to me that their reasons are well founded, and instead of urging the passing of such a bill, for the betterment of humanity, many of them seem to be entirely actuated by race prejudice. They seem to be regretting the action of their forefathers in selling land to the negroes and would like to have it back. I can listen and read with some degree of interest to what is being said by Southern men in favor of segregating the negro farmers, but I must confess I have no interest whatever in anything in favor of the proposition coming from the lips and pen of a Northern man. Mr. H. E. Mabie, who is a Northern man, said the following: "I would not give a dollar for a farm in a negro settlement." Had it not been for Northern politicians, who followed the Union army through the South and settled among negroes at the close of the war and engendered strife between the emancipated negro and his former master, this present state of things that are now in existence would not have been. They came as the negroes' Moses to lead them from the land of oppression to the land of political prosperity. They ate, drank and slept with them. They made them feel that every man who was not Northern-born was his enemy. Some of this feeling has never been erased; it is rather difficult to make some negroes believe that the Southern white man is not his friend. The negro is not responsible for this feeling. The Union League, which was a political organization composed of negroes and yankees only. It had its signs, grips and pass-words so that they might know each other in the dark as well as in the light. There was an entrance fee of so much. Thousands of negroes all over the Southern States became members of it and thousands of dollars were raised. Negroes were always elected as vice presidents and chaplains. The position of secretary and treasurer was always filled by these white men. The colored people felt it a great privilege as well as an honor to be associated with these men. The promise of ten acres of land and a mule was sufficient to secure their votes. These politicians rode into power on the backs of the negroes. Many of them feathered their nests and then took their departure and left the negro here to work out his own salvation. Some of them for political purposes went so far as to connect themselves with negro secret societies. They never had time to attend lodge meetings excepting a few days before the election. These farms were sold to us by our former owners, who allowed us to pay for them on the installment plan. We paid for them their price. Had it not been for the interest they manifested in us, we would not have been able to own one foot of land.

Now, Mr. Editor, should your segregation plans be approved by the Legislature, what will become of those farms owned by the negro? Farms which he secured through the advice of the Southern white people. Is not the negro the laborer all through the South and will not this result in sending the negro from the farm into the cities—the very thing against which the Southern press has been fighting? And will not this discourage the negro and instead of making him a useful citizen, may make him a criminal? Andrew Carnegie says that "the negroes of this country in 1900 had 746,717 farms, equal to 38,230,933 acres, or 57,141 square miles." Why did our good white people let us have these farms? Why were they not sold in the beginning to white people? Did they not know at that time that the country was not at a standstill, and that as education and civilization advanced, property would be compelled to increase in value? Where were these white people raised who seem to be afraid to send their children to school in a negro community? What kind of negroes are those referred to by Mr. W. D. Turlington? Are they cannibals? I did not know that we had such vicious negroes in all our Southland. The white people mentioned in the Progressive Farmer are the only Southern white people who seem to be afraid of the negroes. Mr. W. D. Turlington refers to town landowners who prefer to rent big land to negroes. This is not done because these white people are negro lovers, it is simply because they can get more for their land from negroes. The sun is never too hot for the industrial negro farmer to work. 2nd. The negro will pay his rent. We are not in position to demand anything. Notwithstanding, we are at the mercy of our white people. They can and will do anything they choose. If you wish you could make us leave our homes which we have bought and paid for. Notwithstanding we are put down as citizens. Now, Mr. Editor, instead of checking as Mr. A. A. Richerson, of Nashville, has said, the thrift of the honest, industrious colored man, who is struggling for existence, encourage his efforts by giving him a chance in the race of life. We close our letter by using the language of Ruth, but it has no bearing on social equality:

And Ruth said: "Intreat me not to leave thee; for whither thou goest, I will go; and thy God, my God. Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried; the Lord do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part thee and me." I trust that I made myself plain in this letter and would be pleased to have a reply.

Your humble servant,
R. SPILLER,
Pastor of Central Baptist Church.

Nearly 600,000 members of the Young Men's Christian Association of the United States, including several thousand members of the allied health leagues, hundreds of physical directors and 345,000 members of the physical departments will be urged to cooperate in the Tuberculosis Day campaign during the week of December 7th, according to an announcement made from the headquarters of this movement in New York.

Eats Freely But Has No Dyspepsia

A Little Pepsin in a Mild Laxative Promptly Corrected a Bad Indigestion.

J. W. GOUCHER.

Fortunate is the one who can eat "anything" without suffering the tortures of dyspepsia, but as few are so fortunate, care should be taken in the matter of diet. Eating slowly, masticating the food thoroughly and taking a short walk after the heavy meal of the day will do much towards assisting digestion. Any grown-up person ought to know the peculiar foods that do not agree, and these should be avoided.

When these common-sense aids fail, the next thing to do is to take a mild digestive tonic with laxative properties, and there is none better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains the greatest of all aids to digestion, good pepsin. It has other ingredients, that act mildly on the bowels, which together form a combination for the relief of dyspepsia or indigestion that is unsurpassed.

Its action is to tone and strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that they can again do their work naturally without outside aid, and when that happy moment comes all medicine can be dispensed with. It is the best remedy obtainable for any disorder of the stomach, liver and bowels, for dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, headaches, drowsiness after eating, gas on the stomach, etc. Thousands of users will testify to this, among them Mr. J. W. Goucher, Stites, Idaho, who for several years had all the worst symptoms of chronic dyspepsia. Since taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin these have all gone, and although Mr. Goucher says he is 64, he does not look more than 40.

Syrup Pepsin is sure in its results and a vast improvement over chewing or swallowing tablets and mints, or taking cathartics, salts, etc., all of which are harsh and nauseous and at best do but temporary good. You can obtain Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Wonderful Blood Remedy That Works in the Tissues

The Very Latest Theory About How and Why the Blood is Disordered.

S. S. S. Means Pure Blood Which Insures Long Life and Health.

The great experts in Chemistry and Physiology now declare what has all along been contended by the Swift Laboratory that the germs of blood disorders find lodgment in the interstices of the tissues.

And herein is where S. S. S. goes to work rapidly, effectively and with wonderfully noticeable results.

This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components just as vital and essential to healthy blood as the nutritive elements of wheat, roast beef, and fats and the sugars that make up our daily ration.

As a matter of fact there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antidotal effect upon all those irritating influences that cause rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, loss of weight, thin pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscle and nerve that is generally experienced, by all sufferers with poisoned blood.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright, and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life.

S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of the Swift Specific Co., 201 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga. Who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice.

S. S. S. is sold everywhere by all drug stores.

olina Baptists is the result of the vision of a consecrated mind of the long ago—it was conceived by Rev. Martin Ross. It was in May 1809—104 years ago when the Chowan Baptists Association met in its annual session. Rev. Mr. Ross submitted for discussion this query: "The propriety of establishing a meeting of general correspondence to be composed of the neighboring associations." This query was discussed and a committee appointed. The report of the committee suggested the formation of a general meeting to which all associations should be admitted freely and upon equal footing similar to the organizations at that being organized in Virginia.

Still there was no organization completed and later a meeting was called to be held "on Friday before the First Lord's Day in June 1811, at the Falls of Tar River to form a constitution and plan of organization. This resulted in the "North Carolina Baptists General Meeting of Conference" and annual meetings were held for awhile. The leading spirit of this organization was Rev. Martin Ross.

Missionary societies were organized and in the year 1826 it was decided to change the name and it became the "North Carolina Baptist Benevolent Society. On several occasions resolutions were adopted providing for the organization of a Baptist State Convention final action was not taken until March 26, 1830 when the North Carolina Baptist Benevolent Society in session at Greenville adopted a resolution: "Resolved, that this society be transformed into a State Convention."

Few and simple were the words of the resolution but the result was far-reaching and the Convention which meets in Shelby on Tuesday, December 9, dates its first session with the passage of that little resolution at Greenville in March 1830. Thus was the North Carolina Baptist State Convention was called into existence and the man who first caught the vision of the need had scarcely any idea of the largeness of the possibility before the Convention. God Has called Rev. Martin Ross and many others home—but the work started in their days is going forward with the passing of each day. In that first session of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention there were fourteen men. Their names are bright in the History of the Baptist denomination. They were: Patrick W. Dowd, R. M. Cuffie, William P. Biddle, Samuel Watt, John Armstrong, Thomas Meredith, Charles W. Skinner, James McDaniel, H. Austin, P. P. Lawrence, R. S. Long, Thomas D. Mason, George Stokes and R. S. Blount. Patrick K. Dowd was elected president and John Armstrong recording secretary.

The constitution was adopted and a board of directors elected. The convention immediately selected a "board of ministers" whose duties seem to have been to visit the Churches of the State and enlist their cooperation with the Convention. The delegates to this first convention were not chosen from the churches but from the missionary societies. When the work of organization was completed the adjournment was taken to meet at Roger's Meeting House in Wake County" in April 1831.

Many men prominent in Southern Baptist circles will attend the session of the convention at Shelby. Rev. R. J. Willingham, D. D. Corresponding Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board and Rev. B. D. Gray, D. D. Corresponding Secretary of the Home Mission Board will be two of the busy men. In addition, Rev. I. J. Van Ness of the Sunday School Board of Nashville Tenn., will be in attendance and representatives of various denominational interests will deliver addresses.

The annual sermon, the event of the first sessions of the annual convention will be preached Tuesday night immediately following the organization. The preacher as selected by the Convention of last year will be Rev. Walter N. Johnson of Wake Forest. In the event of the absence of Mr. Johnson, Rev. W. A. Smith, pastor of the Pritchard Memorial Baptist Church of Charlotte will preach the sermon.

Considerable interest centers upon the annual report of the Board of State Missions and Sunday Schools and this report will be made Wednesday morning. This board has in charge the work of the evangelization of the destitute protions of the State. They employ a large number of missionary workers and assist weak churches with their work. Last year the workers of the board reported 1,607 baptism; 331 meetings held; 12 new church buildings erected and almost 3,000 conversions. The board received for the purpose of State mission work, $54,329.68.

Immediately preceding the meeting of the Convention will be held the annual conference of Baptist Pastors. Rev. Frank Hare preaching the opening sermon Monday night, December 8. Following this sermon will come the address of the conference delivered by Rev. J. B. Gambrell of Texas, who comes to this State as the guest of the conferance. Dr. Gambrell is recognized as one of the greater preachers of the United States. Throughout Tuesday the conference will consider many questions of importance and the session will close Tuesday afternoon with an address by Rev. B. D. Gray D. D. of Atlanta on the theme, "Denominational Christianity."

Mr. Overman doubtless thinks that if he stays on the job in Washington, as Simmons did, the people will at least respect him for attending to his business.—Greenville Reflector.

RUN-DOWN WOMEN.

Find Health in a Simple Tonic.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well, strong and healthy as a woman should be? They may not be sick enough to lie in bed—but they are run-down, thin, nervous, tired and devitalized.

Women are so active nowadays, and so much is expected of them, that they constantly overdo and suffer from headache, backache, nervousness and kindred ills.

Such women need Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil which will create an appetite, tone up the digestive organs, make pure blood and create strength.

Mrs. Walter Price, Biloxi, Miss., says: "I was in a run-down condition for months, I had taken several medicines but they seemed to do me no good. Finally Vinol was recommended, and from the first bottle I began to improve until I am strong and well as ever."

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.—Robt. R. Bellamy, druggist, Wilmington, N. C.

Dedication Exercise in Sampson County Town, October 31st.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Garland, N. C., Nov. 3—Friday, October 31st, was a great day in the village here, the occasion being the dedication of the splendid new high school building. The exercises took place in the auditorium of the building which was filled to capacity. The school with an enrollment of 150 opened the exercises by singing "The Old North State" after which Rev. E. B. Carr led in an eloquent prayer.

The presentation of the building to the Board of Education of Sampson county was by Mr. J. D. Johnson, of the local board, the acceptance in a happy speech being by Mr. J. L. Hathcock, chairman of the county board.

Supt. L. L. Matthews, of the county schools, presented the building to the taxpayers and childern.

Mr. William Sloon as chairman of the local board made a splendid response in their behalf. Mr. Sloan made mention of the gift of $10 by the children of the district to the building fund. After this the audience joined the school in singing "America".

Dr. Cooper, superintendent of health in Sampson, was present and explained the nature of the health work it is proposed to do in the county.

After singing "I'se Gwine Back to Dixie", the assemblage adjourned for dinner, which was bountiful and plenteous.

In the afternoon Prof. C. E. McIntosh, the State Department of Education at Raleigh, made an able address which was heard with much pleasure. In the evening a Hallowe'en party was given under the auspices of the Woman's Betterment Association. This was much enjoyed by the young people and the handsome sum of $43 was realized for school purposes.

The whole day was one of rare enjoyment and was an uplift both in a social and educational way to the entire comunity.

The Wilmington Star says: "After a man or woman is particularly notorious they still have a chance to become a lecturer, writer, or vaudevillian." Still have a chance? Why, becoming notorious is what gave them a chance. Not one in a thousand had a ghost of a chance before.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Successful Root and Herb Remedy.

The study of roots and herbs, their character and power over disease, was what led Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., to produce for woman's ills the most successful remedy the world has ever known, and while she passed to her reward some years ago, her work among suffering women is still carried on by trained assistants and many tons of roots and herbs are consumed annually in the manufacture of the now famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as originated by her.

THE DEATH OF MOSES.

(The Story.)

No human life was ever more full of scenic incident than that of Moses. From his wave-rocked cradle onward it was a march of stirring events, prolific of themes for the artist. These circumstances come to memory with the mere mention of Moses' name.

The climax of this series is reached in Moses' death. No human demise surpasses it in a certain quality of weirdness. The story is that, on one of the many occasions on which the Israelites "murmured" in the wilderness, Moses was unusually incensed against them, and cried, "Hear now, ye rebels! Must we fetch you water out of this rock?" For some quality in this action which is not clearly defined, Moses was denied the privilege of entrance to Canaan. Aaron was already dead and Moses had received his token. He uttered his stately farewell, chanted his song, and pronounced his blessing, and then began his solitary death journey to Nebo. There is no word of protest. He had certainly gained in submissiveness since he uttered that piteous cry, "I pray thee, let me go over." Josephus says he withdrew amidst the tears of the people, and that the elders of Eliezer and Joshua followed part way up the mountain. At length he reached the peak named Nebo. A miraculous vision of the entire land of promise is not necessarily involved. What he saw was a sample of the whole to the remotest limits named.

The death of Moses has been idealized until one is lost in a maze of curious speculation. The rabbis say, for example, that Moses died by a kiss of the Lord. That in the act, Jehovah drew his life from him. This is elaborated from the phrase that Moses "died by the mouth of the Lord." The burial of Moses is made a mystery also. The tradition is that Jehovah himself buried him. The Septuagint, however, has it, "they buried him." If those who attended to the burial of Moses kept their secret, and made no record of it, after their death it could be truthfully affirmed that "no man knoweth the place of his sepulcher." Jude makes reference to some Jewish tradition when he speaks of Michael contending about the body of Moses. These are matters speculative. They afford a fertile field for the imaginative, but for the average person the moral qualities of the man are confessedly more important than the accidents of his death and burial.

Thus, for example, the death of Moses was undoubtedly intended to be exemplary. He was a lawgiver, but he was also himself a lawbreaker. He must suffer in sight of all the people the penalty of the law which he not only gave, but also broke.

Again, it was manifestly unfit that the grave of one whose habit was to efface himself during life should become the Mecca of adulation. This self-forgetfulness has splendid illustration in Moses' very dying hour. He prays for a suitable successor, and cries, "Let Jehovah set a man over the congregation." This living for others has still further exemplification in the fact that while he led Israel up to the threshold of Canaan, he did not enter himself. He put them in the way of a goodly possession, in which he was not to have any share, even to the extent of pressing the soil with his foot. Thus, in sacrifice of personal aims and gains, he indicated in advance the crowning grace of the Prophet who was to be like him, though greater.

What Moses was and did, these are the dynamic facts. What became of his body is matter of indifference. The latter is left uncertain, the former is recorded with precision. Not only is Moses' name hewn out on Time as on a rock, but "he stands on Time as on a pedestal."

The Teacher's Lantern.

Customs touching the disposition of human remains are among the most tenacious. Innovation is exceedingly difficult. Intrusion into this sacred region is usually resented. But in this celebrated case of Moses it is an open question whether there are not some suggestions we would do well to heed.

This was the first "private burial" of which we have record. The obituary is also exceedingly brief. The record is: "He died there in the land of Moab, and (they) buried him in a valley."

God not only buried Moses, but buried Moses' grave also. The private burial, brief obituary, and perhaps even the unmarked grave are worthy of imitation.

The monument custom, which transmutes a lovely greensward into a crowded and ugly stoneyard, is certainly to be deprecated.

Browning satirizes a vulgar pride in his poem, "The Bishop Orders His Tomb."

Moses is a fine example of the "young old man," of whom there are more living today than perhaps ever before, thanks to physical culture and hygienic observance. It should be the rule, not the exception, to find, even in extreme age, the eye undimmed and the natural face unabated.

Temperance Facts and Figures.

The temperance question has passed the pathetic story and personal age. It has become a stubborn economic problem to which every patriotic and humane citizen must needs give serious attention. The annual direct and indirect cost is in round numbers five thousand million dollars. The amount of liquor consumed is 22 gallons per capita. These figures can not be eliminated from the equation of "High Cost of Living" and oppressive taxation. The low cost and the light tax, which has been America's boast and has made her the Mecca of all the oppressed, are vanishing before our eyes. There will be no cure nor relief until the cause is removed. It is freely admitted that the chief cause is the inordinate production and consumption of liquors.

Nurse Proclaims Skin Cure

Myrtle Hahn Says D. D. D. Prescription is Worth Rockefeller's Millions to Her.

"Ten years I suffered with eczema—three years of that time I could not appear in public. My entire body was covered with the disease. I could not eat. I could not sleep. I could not live. I have at last found the great Prescription D. D. D. My body is clean, smooth. If there were one bottle only of D. D. D. in the world and I had it, Mr. Rockefeller's millions could not buy the golden fluid."

Nurse Myrtle Hahn (in care Old Ladies' Home, Durham, N. C.)

How about you?

If you have any skin blemish or a little rash, do not let it develop into something more serious. Remember D. D. D. Prescription has been recognized for fifteen years as the standard skin remedy. It always helps, and if used according to directions, it should cure in a short while.

All druggists sell this standard remedy, but if you come to us, we will offer you the first full size bottle with the guarantee that unless it stops the itch at once we will refund the purchase price. Ask also about the equally efficient skin soap.

without any attempts at flights of oratory.

Sir John is as fearless as he is brilliant. After having fought three elections in one year in Walthamstow and making the seat a safe one for himself, he has quietly announced his intention of resigning at the next general election to fight Northwest Manchester, one of the most uncertain constituencies in the country. It was Northwest Manchester that rejected Mr. Balfour in 1906; chose Winston Churchill later on in the same year, only to reject him two years later; reverted to Liberalism in 1910, when Bonar Law sought the suffrage of the constituency and, at a bye-election last year elected Sir John Randles, a Unionist. However, Sir John Simon is a Manchester man, and besides he is the chief apostle of Free Trade. For the government nothing is more important than to keep the manufacturing centres in the Free Trade fold.

The boot and shoe makers of England, who have organized a campaign to capture some of the trade of America now that the duty has been abolished on their goods, realize that in one way they are handicapped. This is in respect to cheap leather. Until America took off the duty on hides, England was the one free market for this raw material of the boot and shoe maker. From all parts of the world hides were shipped to England, and when such countries as Australia, the Argentine and America had surplus stocks they found their way to this country. Now America is expected to be a competitor for these hides and the English manufacturer will have to pay higher price for them, unless of course there are more than the two countries can consume.

It is surprising the quantity of hides England, receives from such countries as India and other Eastern and near Eastern lands, but these are of cheaper varieties and do not count much in the war for trade in high-class goods that the English boot maker is preparing ot wage with his American competitor.

The appointment of Major John N. Merrill, Jr. of Skowhegan, Maine, to organize and command a force of 1,000 gendarmes at Shiraz, Persia, for the Governor-General of Fars, to be independent of the Swedish gendarmerie but to co-operate with it when required, is a distanct victory for American methods and for that young American officer.

Major Merrill, who is only a little over thirty years of age, went to Persia with Morgan Shuster when that gentleman was appointed to reorganize the finances of the country. When Shuster left, Major Merrill was the only one of his American staff to remain. His force was incorporated in the regular gendarmerie, but he was given little or nothing to do. Now he is practically given charge of that portion of Southern Persia which has a worse reputation than probably any country in the world. The district is overrun with outlaws and the British Government, within whose sphere of influence it is included, long ago gave up the attempt to police it.

There is no reason, though, why Major Merrill should not succeed where older men have failed. He has had a thoroughly good training in running down outlaws. As a young man he went to West Point, but failed to qualify in mathematics. He was determined, however, to be a soldier and enlisted as a private in the United States Army. In the course of time he went to the Philippine Islands with his regiment. There he did the ordinary round of soldiering until his unusual qualifications attracted the attention of his superiors and he was appointed an officer in the Philippine service all over the Islands but particularly in those homes of outlawry, Mindanao and the Moro country. From this he entered the Philippine customs service and thus came under the notice of Mr. Shuster, who asked him to accompany him to Persia.

ROADS IN COLUMBUS.

Effective Work at Many Places in This Progressive County.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Bolton, N. C., Nov. 8.—Good Roads Day was observed in Columbus county in practically all sections. The citizens, both white and colored, built two miles of road from Freeman's to Byrdsville, in Ranson township. At Wananish and Lake Waccamaw large crews turned out and not only repaired old roads but built new ones, continuing work three days; also Chadbourn took great interest, the school turning out in full force, both teachers and pupils shoveling dirt to gether. Good reports also come from North Whiteville township and various other points in the county. Your correspondent can safely say this movement marks a new era in good roads and Governor Craig is to be commended for setting the example, which shows that Columbus people are always ready to respond whenever they are called upon in any public movement. Old Columbus is determined that her sister counties shall not get ahead of her. Good roads and good schools are are on every tongue nowadays. The ladies are as wide-awake as our men in this great movement. The convicts are building a sand-lay road from Whiteville to the Robeson county line at Lennon's Bridge, near Lumberton.

Hon. A. T. Clark, of Bolton, hired five men, two mules with carts and went to Gum Swamp and put in a full day's work at his own expense. Also the schools at Bolton and Gum Swamp turned out in full force and did a good day's work, teachers and all. Bolton folks are thoroughly alive on this subject. Dr. Smith and Mr. C. F. Ashley are the overseers who have built some as good roads here as you could find anywhere. The Star man enjoyed an auto ride sometime ago with Mr. Ashley to see what is being done and he was surprised to see the improvement along this line.

Lectures and discussions on tuberculosis will be held on Sunday afternoon, December 7th, and during the week preceding or the week following that date, by many organizations connected with the Y. M. C. A. Prominent speakers in various cities of the country will address these meetings. The details of the programme are being worked out by Dr. George J. Fisher, director of the physical department of the international committee of the association.

One of the largest and most valuable timber trees of the country is the tulip tree, known to lumbermen as yellow poplar. It is related to the magnolias, but is the only tree of its kind in the world.

$1550 The Thomas B. Jeffery Company Jeffery Kenosha, Wis. U.S.A. $1550

You wanted a really high-grade car at a moderate price. Jeffery has built it!

You know that four or five hundred dollars will buy an automobile, but you aren't willing to sacrifice entirely, looks and comfort. You know that twice as much money will buy an automobile with quite a little in looks, comfort, power and service under good road conditions.

You know that if you don't care how much money you spend, you can buy a good car, light enough to be economical in gasoline, oil, and tires; powerful and fast enough to do all you want done, and made of the very best materials to be had in this country and Europe; and handsome as the best designers can conceive—perfect in every way—except price.

But to build such a car to sell at a moderate price—that's another thing. It can be done only by a big, successful concern with plenty of money, long years of experience in buying materials and machinery, organized to avoid all waste, so that every cent paid for production would really go into the car; the manufacturer must make practically every part, and make these parts better and for less than he could buy them from others, In short, such a manufacturer must be a complete master of every detail, including large capital. Any other would be sure to fail in such an undertaking.

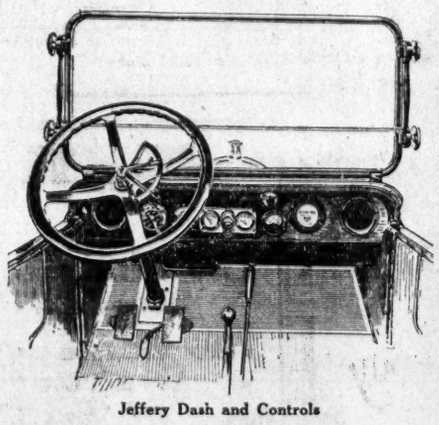
THE THOMAS B. JEFFERY COMPANY has always been recognized as representing the most solid, conservative, yet successful spirit of the automobile industry. In bicycle days the Rambler was the standard by which others were measured. Later, as the automobile took the place of the bicycle, the Rambler and the Cross Country stood in the front rank of cars in their class and were recognized even by their keenest competitors as sturdy, well designed, dependable cars.

Now, this marvelous manufacturing organization, with its $5,500,000 in assets, with the highest credit in the industry and a factory equipped with $3,000,000 worth of the latest machinery, its engineering and designing departments thoroughly familiar with the latest and best designs of this country and Europe, offers to the public a perfect motor car, and is proud to mount upon it the name-plate "Jeffery."

There are other cars on the market at about $1,500, but even hasty comparison of the specifications with the Jeffery will indicate that from now on at least, motor cars cannot be "classed" by price. There are still other cars whose specifications, material and workmanship conform closely to the Jeffery, but they sell from $2,500 to $5,000. Therein lies the remarkable and extraordinary side of this announcement.

With all the capital in the world, and with an honest desire to build a perfect motor car surpassing all existing values, you could not go into the automobile business tomorrow and give your buyers real value. Why? Because, to know how to build value into a motor car, you need to have been building motor cars as long as they have been built; to know every step, every improvement, every mistake. The men who work for you must be those who have worked, studied and experimented with you for years. Your purchasing department must have been buying the best of materials so long and in such quantities that it is invariably offered the best of materials at the lowest prices. Your organization must be so perfected and proficient that shop economies are second nature. Experiments in cost reduction must be in the past.

Then, you must build the car and its parts in your own plant and build them better and more economically than outsiders could. There can be no accessory builders' profits in your costs. Your machinery must be in your plant because you have seen machinery develop and know the best. Your ideas of design and construction must be in advance, because your experience is the longest and wisest and because you have literally torn to pieces and analyzed the best mechanical products of America and Europe. You must have capital to make these experiments and tests, to buy the best brains that your industry affords and to eliminate from your manufacturing problems entirely the necessity for quick profits and the bugaboo of possible financial distress.

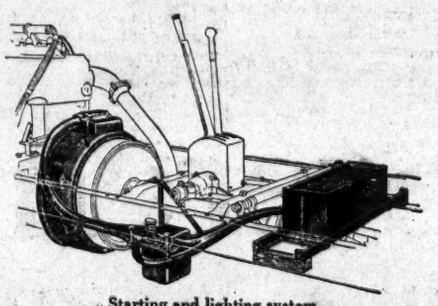


Jeffery Dash and Controls

These are the precise conditions under which the Jeffery is built, and these are the real, sound, logical reasons why the Jeffery is the most astounding value on the market today. We, ourselves, could not have priced the car at $1,550 had we not, after it was built, found ways of reducing our fixed selling expense in certain markets and credited this saving to "cost account" rather than retain it as added profit.

You will probably never appreciate the fact that the Jeffery is one of the highest grade cars on the market regardless of price, unless you consider the specifications. They are given here very briefly. You should know all the truth about this wonderful car, how little it costs to operate it, how easy it is on tires, how smoothly it operates, how quietly and how easily it handles. We have accomplished that which all motor car designers have either overlooked or striven for in vain—a light car without the sacrifice of strength, sturdiness, power or comfort.

The Jeffery high speed mono-bloc motor develops 40 H. P. at 2200 revolutions. Its flexibility is nothing short of marvelous. It drives this car 40 miles per hour on second speed. It gets away with snap—the kind you like to feel. Touch the throttle and in seven seconds you are making twenty miles an hour, in twenty seconds, forty miles, and in fifty-five seconds, fifty miles.



Starting and lighting system. No gears, belts or chains.

The electric starting and lighting system is the U. S. L. Our engineers made a most exhaustive examination of all systems before selecting this, the most expensive of them all. Another car selling for $3,250 charges $200 extra for this equipment. The Jeffery Four could be sold for $100 less if equipped in any other way. All gears, cams, chains and bearings are eliminated in this starting system. These are the things that make other starters noisy. Not a single car in America selling under $2,000, except the Jeffery Four, is equipped with the U. S. L.

The transmission shafts are of vanadium steel hung in five imported annular bearings. The use of vanadium steel and imported ball bearings must appeal to even the uninitiated as practices usually associated only with very high priced cars. Our springs and front axle are also of vanadium steel. The rear axle is of the full floating type, also on imported annular bearings. The driving shaft is many times stronger than the heavlest strain you could ever place upon it, and is made of the finest chrome nickel steel, vanadium treated.

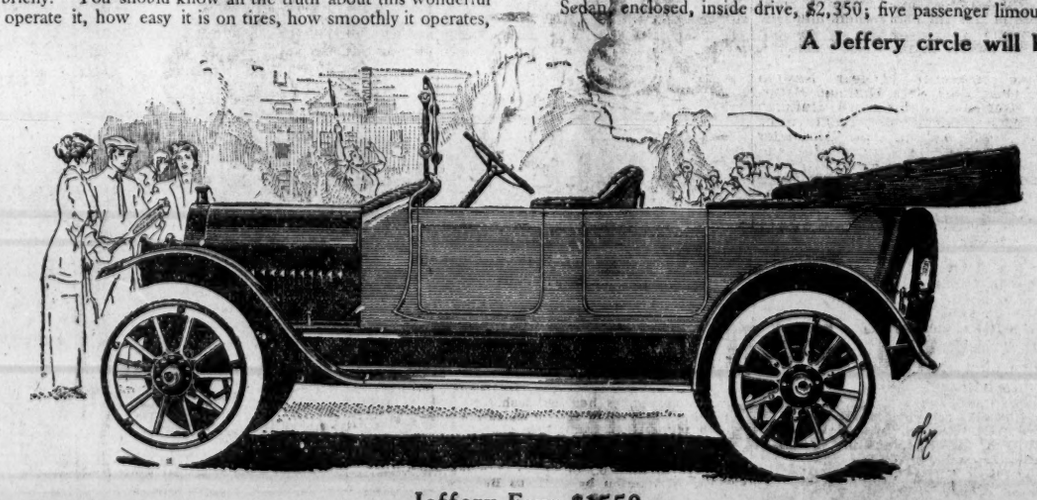
The wheel base of 116 inches gives a compact car and yet retains the comfortable lines of the body and short turning space—42 feet.

Rothschild designed the body. It's an improvement on the Lancia—that beautiful Italian car. It's Brewster green. The upholstery is of the finest leather and hair. The doors are extremely wide—23½ inches. The dash literally radiates an atmosphere of modern equipment combined with practical under-the-hand control. The headlights can be dimmed at any time for city driving.

The equipment includes top of the finest material, rain-vision windshield, Stewart-Warner speedometer, ammeter, extra demountable rim with carrier, electrically lighted dash, Klaxet horn, Solar electric lamps with dimmer, and complete tool equipment.

The car is built in five body styles: Five passenger touring, or two passenger roadster, $1,550; two passenger Coupelette, enclosed, inside drive, $1,950; four passenger Sedan, enclosed, inside drive, $2,350; five passenger limousine, $3,000.

A Jeffery circle will be sent if you ask for it.



Jeffery Four $1550

The Jeffery Six is a duplicate of the wonderful Jeffery Four, except for size. The cylinders are cast in pairs. This car, which sells at $2,250, is in a great many ways as remarkable among Sixes as its smaller brother is among the Fours. We built it for those who will drive nothing but a Jeffery car, but who prefer a Six. It is light—actual scale weight, 3700 pounds, with full equipment. We made it luxurious and beautiful without making it extravagant. We know that a better Six cannot be built.

The motor—3¼ x 5¼—develops 48 horse power. The bearings are imported annular ball throughout. The ignition is Bosch Duplex and the starting and lighting system is the U. S. L., of course. Wheel base, 128 inches, and wheels 36 x 4½—on enclosed cars 37 x 5—Rayfield carburetor, Warner autometer, ammeter, engine driven power tire pump, Rothschild body with extra wide doors and low, deep seats, full floating rear axle. This car is made, five passenger touring or two passenger roadster at $2250; six passenger at $2300; Sedan five passenger $3250 and limousine, at $3700.

Successful dealers want to tie up with a financially strong and successful organization. Furthermore, such a high grade car, built in such a plant and of such materials has never before been offered anywhere near this price. Big dealers in big cities all over the country are dropping other lines and organizing new companies to take on the Jeffery line. They are quick to recognize in this car a wonderful opportunity.

Edward Morris, president of Morris & Company, died at Chicago Monday after an illness of more than a year. His estate is valued between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000.

The exports of cotton from Galveston, Tex., for the past season showed a total of 4,010,691 bales, which is said to be the highest figure ever attained by any cotton port in the world.

Sixty collectors, deputy collectors and surveyors of customs met at the Custom House in New York Monday to devise more efficient and economical methods of operating the customs service.

Assemblyman-elect William Sulzer, of the Sixth New York district, was busy all Wednesday receiving visitors and messages of congratulation at his headquarters in the Broadway Central Hotel. Asked if he would take a rest, he said: "I never need a rest."

The entire Indiana militia was last Thursday ordered out by Governor Ralston, on account of the street car strike at Indianapolis. The Governor announced he would declare martial law. The Governor said he regretted that troops had to be called out, but the situation was critical.

Tuesday's election demonstrates the supremacy in Maryland of the Wilson Democracy, the personal strength of Blair Lee and the mastery of the State government by the Democrats. Issues were made on these three propositions and the answer of the people is thunderously emphatic.

President Wilson made no official comment Wednesday on the Democratic victories in New Jersey, Massachusetts and Maryland, but told friends he was much encouraged because in all three States the tariff and currency were issues and he felt that the Administration's policies had been upheld.

A glowing tribute to the memory of Frances E. Willard, founder of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and messages from all parts of the country by national lecturers working in the interest of nation-wide prohibition, marked the closing session Wednesday of the national convention of the union, at Asbury Park, N. J.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt arrived at Buenos Ayres shortly after 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, on board the Argentine gunboat Uruguay from Montevideo. The gunboat was escorted into the harbor by a fleet of steamers dressed with flags from stem to stern. As she approached she fired a salute of 21 guns, to which the gunboat Rosario replied.

The first street car to be moved since the traction employes' strike was called Friday night was deserted in the streets of Indianapolis Wednesday after strike breakers had run it less than a mile through a constant hail of bricks. One strike breaker was taken from the car badly hurt and rioting followed during the night with three killed and many hurt.

By a clever strategem, which hoodwinked the large force of police sent to prevent her from speaking, Miss Sylvia Pankhurst was enabled to announce at the Bow Baths, at the East End of London, Wednesday night, the formation of a volunteer corps, organized under command of Capt. Sir Francis Vane, a Boer War veteran, for the protection of militant suffragettes and labor unionists.

Official Washington continued to remain quiet during the week concerning conditions in Mexico. No statement was made by either President Wilson or Secretary Bryan. Mrs. Lind proved herself a life-saver when she hid two fugitives in her state room aboard the steamer Morro Castle, while it was detained in Vera Cruz harbor and searched by Federal authorities for fleeing deputies.

Attorney General McReynolds, concluding final arguments for dissolution of the International Harvester Company before the United States District Court Wednesday, asked that an interlocutory decree be entered by the court, declaring the Harvester concern a monopoly in restraint of trade. He requested that the defendants have a reasonable time to submit a proper plan of re-organization.
